

New Space Shot May Provide Better Heavenly Yardstick

Beachball-Sized Probe Expected
To Aid Astronauts on Journeys

Washington — (AP) — A new and more accurate yardstick of the heavens — of great potential importance to future astronauts on possible jaunts to the planets — may come from America's latest venture into space.

The beachball-sized space probe launched Friday from Cape Canaveral might help pin down more precisely the absolute distances from the earth to the other planets. Estimates on these distances now may be in error by thousands of miles.

This would be important because it would help assure that a manned or un-manned space ship headed for a planet could be properly guided towards its destination — so as to come within the gravitational pull of the target planet, instead of possibly falling short of it, or overshooting it.

Specifically, the new probe is expected to help scientists get new values for the so-called "astronomical unit" — AU for short — the yardstick used by astronomers for centuries in figuring distances within the broad reaches of the universe. The hope is to do this with a powerful radio transmitter carried aboard the probe.

Only Relative Distance
The AU is the mean distance between the earth and the sun — approximately 93 million miles. All measurements within and beyond the solar system are based upon it.

But astronomers are generally agreed that their present measuring rod is accurate only to about plus or minus 50,000 miles. Thus, they say, while relative distances between the earth and her sister planets are known quite accurately, the absolute distances between them are uncertain by thousands of miles.

Potential use of the new space probe represents a variation of the radio-reception technique. It seemingly would allow easier interpretation of results than radio astronomy techniques using natural celestial bodies as signals sources.

Beverly Hills, Calif. — (AP) —

Mrs. Betty Lanza, widow of singer Mario Lanza, was found dead in the bedroom of her home here Friday, police said.

Although the exact cause of death has not been determined, authorities said Mrs. Lanza was believed to have died from asphyxiation. She was under treatment for a respiratory infection.

The death of Lanza in Rome, Oct. 7 was a severe blow to Mrs. Lanza. After she returned here with her four children she appeared deeply depressed.

Mrs. Lanza married Mario in 1945 before he made his first big hit in the movies.

Setback for Rescuers in Mine Disaster

New Ventilating System Fails to Clear Passageways

Logan, W. Va. — (AP) — Rescue crews, working feverishly to reach 18 miners entombed since Tuesday, suffered an agonizing setback today when a new ventilating system failed to clear passageways of deadly fumes.

Officials of Island Creek Coal company and Crawford L. Wilson, state mines chief who is directing the rescue operation, said it would be another 10 to 24 hours before additional underground construction work is completed.

"We have met with some disappointment in our plan of reversing the air flow over the fire area," Wilson told a pre-dawn press conference. "But we are continuing with plans to reach the area where the miners are presumed to be located."

Smoke and Gas
Smoke and gases, along with intense heat from the smoldering coal fire, have thwarted rescuers for four days. The fate of the men is not known but mine officials believe they had time to barricade themselves off one-half mile from the fire.

Four passageways, covering an area of about 200 feet, were blocked off in an operation which got underway Friday morning. Four galvanized steel pipes were installed — two to draw fumes out and two to pump fresh air into the area where the entombed men are believed to be.

When the new ventilation system was tested early today, officials decided it did not establish the air flow necessary to make the area safe for rescue teams.

Youths Escape As Packed Car Hits Train

Minneapolis — (AP) — A car loaded with 11 teenagers — A passenger train speeding at 75 miles an hour —

A snow grade crossing — all ingredients for tragedy. "But those kids were born under the right stars," said E. C. Bombarger, police chief of suburban Coon Rapids.

Friday night after the car skidded on the slippery highway into the train's third diesel unit. All the teenagers lived.

Only two of the victims, all from Minneapolis or its suburbs, were in critical condition. The others were treated for cuts, bruises and shock at North Memorial hospital.

Bombarger said the 1955 car in which the 11 were packed was dragged and spun 100 feet from the crossing. The party was returning from a Coon Rapids school dance.

NATO Council Agrees On Disarmament Plan

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, left, and Sen. John Kennedy, second from left, were brought together Thursday noon for the first time in the Wisconsin primary campaign. The candidates talked at the Alvin J. Krueger farm near Clintonville, after meeting at the Clintonville airport. With the two Democratic hopefuls are Alvin Krueger, second from right, and his son, Gerald, who conducted a tour of the farm. Kennedy later continued his tour through the Fox Cities area and Humphrey headed for Kenosha.

Three Stage Proposal Set For Summit

Paris — (AP) — The North Atlantic council today approved the 5-power western disarmament plan which will be presented to the Soviet bloc next week. The 10-nation east-west disarmament conference opens in Geneva Tuesday.

A NATO spokesman said the council gave its "complete sympathy and entire support to the western plan."

The plan was drawn up earlier this week by disarmament experts for the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy. The NATO council discussed it at a special meeting today, with Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada acting as spokesman for the five powers.

The United States was reported unofficially to have agreed to slash its armed forces to 2,100,000 men if the Soviet Union does the same.

Informed sources said the manpower ceiling would be a highlight of a 3-part scheme proposed to the communist bloc for reducing military forces and ending the nuclear weapons race.

3 Main Stages
The Western plan calls for three main stages:

1. Establishment of an international disarmament agency to centralize all records of armaments and troops maintained by all nations.

2. Agreement by all nations involved to stop producing nuclear weapons and to convert materials on hand to "atoms for peace" programs; reduce the armed forces of the Soviet Union and the United States.

3. End of production of nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles with a military use; and eventually reduction of armies of all nations to the lowest level needed for security.

Kennedy Gets 'Primary Education' in Rural Tour

Campaign in Fox Cities Area
Marked by 'Historic' Meeting
Of Rivals at Clintonville

BY JAMES BARTELT

Sen. John Kennedy Friday described presidential primaries as "the best education possible for a candidate." If this is true, quite a few classes were held during a day of campaigning which ended in Appleton.

And, for the first time, the campaign trails of Kennedy and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, his rival for the Democratic nomination, crossed at Clintonville. Humphrey was flown in from Milwaukee to pose for Life magazine pictures with Kennedy and the two candidates talked at the airport and visited the nearby Alvin J. Krueger farm. Humphrey will return to Clintonville Sunday night to deliver a speech.

Up at dawn, Kennedy spoke with Waupaca County dairy farmers about the need for self-help farm programs to stabilize prices. As dusk fell, Kennedy told a meeting in a Menasha paper mill union hall that the federal government should take the lead in unemployment compensation to end an unfair advantage of southern states in recruiting industry.

At night, Kennedy greeted 1,500 persons at a reception at the Appleton Masonic temple. Between these times, Kennedy had been made an honorary member of the Menominee Indian tribe and taken a new slap at James Hoffa, Teamsters union international president.

Ridicules Hoffa's Charge
Kennedy noted in a visit with reporters at the Menasha hall that Hoffa said in Green Bay Wednesday that he had been unable to follow through on a libel suit against the senator's brother, Robert, because he was dodging a subpoena. Robert Kennedy was chief counsel for the senate committee which investigated union scandals.

"I'm going to arrange to have my brother's schedule made available to Mr. Hoffa if he wants to see him. I'll make my own schedule available," Kennedy said.

Army Publishes Marriage Advice

Washington — (AP) — A new army pamphlet warns young people against a Prince Charming-Sleeping Beauty approach to marriage.

"None of us is a Prince Charming and no one ever marries a Sleeping Beauty," one chapter of the pamphlet says. The publication is one of a series being issued by the army on the general subjects of duty, honor and country.

In marriage, the army adds, "Love is important it's the right kind of love," not an infatuation or "excited love" that "may leave you breathless today but won't last in or out of marriage."

Chattanooga Snickers On Other Side of Face After Heavy Snowfall

Chattanooga, Tenn. — (AP) — For the past few years the city, with official snickering, included about $2,000 in its annual budget for snow removal. But this year it was left out — and what happened?

Total snow removal for the winter yesterday was boosted 25 inches to 206, just 1.6 inches from a record. And Commissioner Pat Wilcox estimated snow removal has cost about $40,000 since Feb. 11.

Families Isolated

Hard Freeze Plagues South After Blizzard

Atlanta, Ga. — (AP) — A hard freeze in the wake of a March snow storm plagued military and civilian rescue teams today in their dogged efforts to reach isolated families in North Carolina and Georgia.

Thousands more, dazed by nature's freakish series of severe weather blows to the southland, dug their way out of drifts that piled to a height of several feet in mountainous areas of Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

The giant later-winter storm headed out to sea Friday after dumping unprecedented amounts of March snow on the stricken states. It was the third big storm of the month.

The snow depth increased by eight inches in the northwestern tip of North Carolina and slowed relief teams seeking to rescue some 600 snow-bound families. Some counties in the area have had more than 50 inches of snow since Feb. 11.

Helicopters, half-tracks, weasels and other forms of military vehicles are being used in the struggle to get relief to these areas.

Some North Carolina folk were using lumber from the sides of their houses for fuel. A crew found one woman using bed slats and planks from her front porch to keep warm.

Last week's dual ice and snow storms caused an estimated $40 million in damage and in business loss to Georgia. The latest storm added to the estimate but posed no serious threat to the rich peach crop further south.

Wildlife people reported frozen deer and dead quail littering some parts of the ice-covered states.

Kennedy Showing

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Some of the politicians may scoff at presidential primaries and pooh-poo them, but somehow both Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon are better off from a public standpoint than they would have been if they hadn't entered the New Hampshire primaries.

A sizable segment of the electorate actually expressed themselves by their votes. Vice President Nixon polled more votes than did President Eisenhower in the New Hampshire primary four years ago. Sen. Kennedy got a larger vote than the two Democratic aspirants together did in 1956.

The publicity given by the New Hampshire primaries to the two candidates — Nixon and Kennedy — was priceless. Mr. Nixon didn't campaign personally, so his big vote is especially impressive. Mr. Kennedy did campaign personally, and piled up a vote far larger than that of any other Democratic aspirant to the presidency in the

New Hampshire primaries of past years.
Democratic leaders see Mr. Kennedy as a good vote-getter. They see Mr. Nixon as a man who can't be written off as readily today as was attempted a few months ago.
Religious Issue
Some important conclusions can be drawn from the New Hampshire primaries. If, in state after state, Sen. Kennedy wins the presidential primaries, will the Democratic national convention dare to sidetrack him? If it does, the cry will be raised that only because of his religion is he being barred. This viewpoint indeed was frankly and pointedly expressed several months ago in Kennedy circles as something to be borne in mind by the convention delegates. If there is a resentment developed inside the Democratic party, it could mean a large stay-at-home vote in November or even considerable support for the Republican ticket as a punitive measure.
Even more important is the "image" of Mr. Kennedy as a presidential candidate which the newspaper reports of the different primary campaigns will be giving in the next few months. No other candidate will be as much in the public eye, nor will there be any such accumulation of votes throughout the country.
Other would-be candidates Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington, and Adlai Stevenson are staying out of the primaries. Sen. Hubert Humphrey is courageously battling in some of the primaries, and his best chance is in Wisconsin. But should Mr. Kennedy win there, too, it does look as if there will be no stopping the Massachusetts senator.
Communism and McCarthy
What Vice President Nixon gained by the New Hampshire primary is also being weighed by the politicians, and it is agreed that the old myth created by some Democrats about the vice president being the "easiest to beat" is wishful thinking. To poll more votes than President Eisenhower did in 1956 and to do so without an active campaign is a political feat of no minor significance.
Mr. Nixon was given a good chance to employ some wise tactics. He defended Sen. Kennedy publicly against charges made against the latter for allegedly being "soft" on communism. This put a damper on Democrats who were getting ready to have a field day over Mr. Nixon's comments about communism in reference to his own political opponents in the California senatorial race a decade ago. The recent comment by the vice president shows that he knows how to rise above personalities.
But this maneuver doesn't dispose of the communist issue altogether. The attack on Sen. Kennedy doubtless will continue because he indicated a disposition toward the eventual recognition of red China under certain circumstances. Questions about the senator's position with reference to the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy will also be asked. It appears that some of the so-called "liberals," including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, have been in odds with the Massachusetts senator because he didn't vote in favor of the resolution "censuring" Sen. McCarthy in 1954. Mr. Kennedy explains that he was ill at the time and says now that, if he had been present in the senate, he would have voted for the resolution. This confession will not endear him to the McCarthyites, of whom there are a considerable number in this country.
But Sen. Kennedy did gain stature by his showing in the New Hampshire primary, and the mere fact that other candidates did not venture to dispute him indicates they

Breakfast Meeting
Sunday to Feature
Green Bay Speaker

Kimberly — An illustrated talk, "1917 Predictions at Fatima and Our Day," will highlight a breakfast meeting of the Holy Name society of Holy Name of Jesus Parish in the school hall after the 7:30 a.m. Sunday mass.
Men will receive Holy Communion in a body at the mass prior to the breakfast session. Speaker will be Edward J. Duquaine, Green Bay, who bases his lecture on a study of Fatima and communism. He began presenting the lecture after a visit to Fatima in 1958 and since has spoken at meetings throughout Wisconsin and Northern Michigan.
Illustrating his talk with colored slides taken on his trip, Duquaine attempts to acquaint people with the important message of Fatima and eliminate the sensational statements often heard about the Fatima apparition.

Hopfensperger recently guided the Kaukauna team to second place in Mid-East conference play and the finals of regional competition. His team posted one of the best records in the sport in the history of the school.

thought they might get beaten. Primaries do have their uses, and the big test will come this year when, as Sen. Kennedy rolls up the biggest primary vote of all as compared with his Democratic competitors, the question will be asked why, when a man is the favorite of the Democrats of the country who participated in pre-convention primaries, he isn't entitled to the presidential nomination. Primaries aren't so superfluous, after all.

A Reception Line Stretched to the far corner of the Masonic temple as Sen. and Mrs. Kennedy held a bout of handshaking as his second Fox Cities campaign ended. Shaking hands with the senator is Mrs. Eugene Bunker, Neenah. The senator's aides commented his reception here was exceptional.

Kennedy Ends State Tour With Visit to Appleton

Senator Talks Briefly to Students, About 1,500 at Formal Reception

BY DAVID SCHAEFER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A somewhat tired but unrelenting Sen. John F. Kennedy campaigned through Appleton Friday evening in his second and probably final visit to the city.

Sen. Kennedy, after a day which began at 7 a.m., traveled rapidly from a small informal reception at the Hotel Appleton to a brief meeting with students at the Lawrence college union and finally to a colorful reception by a full house at the Masonic temple.

At the Appleton hotel, about 60 people waited from 5:45 p.m. until 6:30, when the senator's motorcade arrived. But the senator had dropped out of the motorcade en route from Neenah to Appleton, and as an anxious reception line formed at the hotel's side door, Kennedy came in through the front.

Students Waiting

Cornered by admirers just inside the entrance, it came as a surprise to a few of these waiting that the senator actually had arrived.

After a brief handshaking tour of the hotel lobby, Kennedy retired to his room for lunch and a short rest. Mrs. Kennedy had checked into the hotel earlier.

A half hour lag in the senator's schedule caused a bit of conflict for many students in the Lawrence college union. Kennedy was scheduled to speak at 7:45 p.m. and a string quartet was presenting a program at 8:15 p.m. Although some gave up and left for the concert, about 300 remained to greet the senator.

In a brief speech he urged the students to consider politics as an honorable and challenging career and stressed the difficulty of making administrative decisions in a society as complex as America's.

"I don't think the present president has found an adequate solution to the decision-making problem," the senator said. "How can he make an educated guess on problems the Rand people, with their equipment and personnel, can't solve?"

Across the street at the Masonic temple, about 1,500 people had more or less successfully squeezed into the main hall for the formal reception.

Need Policies
After an introduction by Gustave Keller, chairman of reception arrangements, Kennedy spoke in the hall decorated with bunting and posters and providing the atmosphere of an old-fashioned rally.

Possibly this is why Sen. Kennedy completely ignored the text of his speech released in advance by his press director. Instead of a talk on conservation and resources development, he again emphasized the importance of primaries in general and the Wisconsin primary in particular, and stated the United States is faced with the most dangerous problems since the time of Lincoln.

"We are totally unprepared to face a conference on nuclear tests. We have 100 men working for disarmament and 1,000 working to make us stronger," Kennedy said.

Reception Line
He added it would be up to the next president to set concrete policies on defense and disarmament, the use of natural resources and dealings with countries such as those in South America, Africa and the Caribbean.

After the speech, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy shook hands with people in a long reception line.

As the lights went out in the Masonic temple, Sen. and Mrs. Kennedy stood on the sidewalk near college avenue discussing their schedule with an aide. They left Appleton for Green Bay and then Washington. Their return to Wisconsin will bring the campaign to the southwestern and eastern parts of the state.

able to him, for that matter," Kennedy said.

Kennedy's initiation into the Menominee tribe came as he and his wife, Jacqueline, visited Keshena early in the afternoon. About 200 persons watched as Kennedy, through a special resolution of the tribe's advisory council, was given the name of Match-o-kamow, which was translated as "The Great Leader."

The senator appeared moved emotionally as he watched four children dance a welcome dance to the beat of an Indian drum. But he and his wife got more than they bargained for when they were informed before leaving it was the custom for honored guests to also dance.

The Primary Test
The Kennedys obliged, and the senator also accepted a feather headdress as part of his new title. But he got it off his head to admire it in his hands before many pictures were taken.

Kennedy was introduced by James Frechette, chairman of the Menominee Advisory council, and Hilary Waukau, head of a Kennedy club on the reservation.

Kennedy provided his description of the Wisconsin primary campaign being an education at a luncheon attended by more than 200 at the Bilmay hotel in Shawano. In every talk, he makes the point that the Wisconsin primary al courage, our Father, to turn aside from the things that would hurt and destroy us. In Christ's name, Amen.

At New London, Kennedy said at a questioning period which followed a talk at the high school that it was unfair to use the word appeasement in describing the Eisenhower administration's record of trying to find out about an air force plane shot down after it strayed into southern Russia in 1958. The word was used in a question by Raymond Kamps, whose brother was aboard the plane.

Seeks Answer
The state department has tried every means it can to find out about those aboard the plane, Kennedy said. He promised, as president, he would strive to get a factual answer from the Russians about what happened.

Kennedy received sincere applause for all his speeches, but the stop for the hastily-arranged publicity meeting with Humphrey on the farm near Clintonville illustrated Humphrey's advantage, which Kennedy tried to acknowledge with a grin.

Curious Republicans?
Alvin Krueger, 71, whose farm was picked for the meeting, found he had more in common with Humphrey after he recalled hearing him talk to a farm cooperative convention.

No small part in the decision could come from what Republicans in these normal-GOP counties do. As in earlier Eighth district appearances, Kennedy drew acknowledged Republicans Friday.

At Manawa, Shawano, and Appleton, there were jokes on the edge of the crowd as Republicans asked each other whether they "were lost."

Biters and Stingers

BY CHARLES M. CROWE

"At the last biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."—Proverbs 23:32

Dr. R. A. Morse of Cornell university, an authority on insects, says that we can better protect ourselves from them if we know their habits and act accordingly. Dr. Morse divides insects into two classes, the biters and the stingers. Mosquitoes and flies are biters. They are just looking for something to eat. We can best deal with them in the open by applying a lotion that repels them. But the stingers are different. These are bees, hornets, wasps and ants. They are out to repel all who get in their way. No promotion will do. The best defense against stingers is to stay out of their way and avoid outraging them.

There are many things besides insects that might be divided into these two classes. The writer of Proverbs refers to strong drink, used intemperately, as both a biter and a stinger. Many have found that the best defense here is to let it alone. Some people can be like this, too. The annoying biters we can turn away with kindness and understanding. But we do well to avoid the stingers. Sometimes it is the better part of wisdom and faith to stay out of the way of unscrupulous promoters, lustful adventurers and mean-spirited companions. It's good sense and good religion to keep from stirring up a hornet's nest.

Doerfer and Durfee are Different

Sen. Proxmire says the acceptance of hospitality by John Doerfer, resigned chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, may help defeat confirmation by the Senate of James R. Durfee to the U. S. Court of Claims. We do not know whether Sen. Proxmire hopes this will be the case or whether he merely is mentioning it as a possibility.

The senator is opposed to the confirmation of Durfee as a member of the court and he has been accusing Durfee of accepting the hospitality of airlines during his service as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board. But Sen. Proxmire must know, as does everyone who has followed the careers of these two men, that the cases are very different.

Sen. Proxmire told his story in opposing the Durfee appointment before the judiciary committee. After hearing the senator at length the committee approved the nomination and sent it to the Senate. It was quite obvious to the members of the committee that Durfee's trips were made as a part of his duty as chairman of the CAB. It is only courtesy for the chairman of the CAB to make an appearance at the inauguration of a new important air route and in the instances complained of by Sen. Proxmire, Durfee had been urged to make the trip by the State Department. The CAB has said that these flights were usually operated for their promotional value and not to provide transportation for those participating. Evidently the committee felt that the chairman of the CAB would be required to participate in inaugural flights without regard to the airlines involved and that usually such flights would be considered as part of the chairman's official duties.

On the other hand, it would not be so easy to defend the activities of John C. Doerfer as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Both Doerfer and Durfee are natives of Wisconsin and both served as chairman of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission before being appointed to their Washington jobs. But apparently that is as far as the similarity goes.

Recently Doerfer had an unhappy time trying to explain to a House subcommittee why he had accepted a vacation trip in Florida aboard the yacht of George B. Storer, president of a firm that operates 13 radio and television stations. Doerfer declared that he had not discussed business with Storer during the visit and that his "conscience is absolutely clear" because he did not violate any law or "endanger my independent judgment." He declared at one point that he had looked at the record to be sure that neither Storer nor his firm had any matter pending before the FCC before he left on the trip. Evidently he gave no thought to possible future cases. There were some other scrambled statements of his intention to pay his own fare from Washington to Florida but that somehow or other he did not do so.

Doerfer was before a House subcommittee two years ago and had similar difficulties explaining how it was that he was engaged in fraternization with officials of the broadcasting industry and accepting favors from them. He brushed this charge off with the claim that his duties and the standard practices of the commission "require close contact between commission and industry officials." He said the favors he had received were no more than the ordinary "American amenities." He claimed that none of the favors had affected his official decisions.

We think the difference between the Doerfer and the Durfee situations are so great as to be apparent to almost anyone. For Sen. Proxmire to try to hook them together and make a case against Mr. Durfee based on the activities of Mr. Doerfer is utterly wrong.

While Mr. Doerfer may have done nothing illegal he nevertheless got himself into such a questionable position and suffered such a loss of public confidence as to make his resignation inevitable. No doubt the public will agree with the President's opinion that the resignation was wise.

In contrast, Mr. Durfee appears to enjoy the full confidence of the public as indicated by the favorable recommendation he received from the investigating committee and staunch support given to him by Sen. Wiley and the Eisenhower administration. Any attempt to confuse the two cases is deplorable.

Another Slush Fund Vetoed

Another indefensible raid on the federal treasury was barely averted recently when the House, by only 22 votes, upheld President Eisenhower's veto of a bill that would have doubled the federal subsidy for construction of sewage treatment plants throughout the country.

Nothing so well spotlights the difference between the "let the federal government do it" attitude held by most Democrats, and the doctrine of local and state responsibility upheld by most Republicans, as this sewage subsidy. We cannot imagine a more local problem than sewage disposal. In the event that the failure of some locality to dispose of its sewage properly becomes a matter of concern to neighboring communities, it is at the most a state problem and responsibility.

But to Democrats there seems to be something innately objectionable about requiring that people discharge their responsibilities through their local and state governments. They seem to feel that "the people" about whom they orate with such feeling on the stump, cannot be entrusted with such responsibilities; that the Great White Father in Washington must take them by the hand and show them how to obtain the good things of life, such as sanitary sewage disposal. Thus we have this silly program under which the federal government collects money from people in New York, Wisconsin, Florida and California to build sewage treatment plants in Utah, Missouri, South Carolina and Vermont.

Programs of this sort are especially unfair because they not only collect money from some people to solve other people's problems, but penalize people who have been progressive in solving their own problems. Municipalities which have bonded themselves to build adequate sewage treatment facilities cannot apply for the subsidy, of course, because they do not need any more facilities at this time; therefore the subsidy goes to those communities which have been laggard. Thus this type of federal program rewards communities which have failed to meet their responsibilities, and they in turn can give the heehaw to their neighbors who were so foolish as to spend their own money to provide themselves with the needed facilities.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, who is a leader of the Republican bloc in the House that scraped together enough votes to uphold the president's veto, put the issue very well in a recent newsletter:

Supporting the bill, one congressman read a telegram he had received from a parish in New Orleans, complaining that they had plans to build a sewage plant for their area of 9,000 people but that "loss of federal aid will probably kill this project." At about the same time, I received a letter from a village in our district which said, "We are proud of the fact that we constructed our sewage plant without any federal aid. It took us three years to complete three lift stations, digesters, clarifier and disposal plant at a cost of over $100,000. Our population is only 2,300."

The issue, it seems to me, boils down to this: Will we reduce pollution, by building more sewage plants, with the defeatist attitude of the New Orleans parish, fostered by the false hope of something for nothing, or with the independent, self-confidence of the Wisconsin village, which is willing to meet its own responsibilities?

Looking Backward

Seward Choice of Wisconsin GOP

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the Week of March 10, 1860.

A resolution was adopted at the Republican State Convention declaring William H. Seward to be the first choice of the Wisconsin Republicans for the Presidency.

Delegates elected to the Chicago Convention were: Delegates at large, Carl Schurz, Milwaukee; Hans Crocker, Milwaukee; John P. McGregor, Columbia; First District, C. C. Sholes, Kenosha; H. L. Rann, Walworth; Second District, Moses S. Gibson, St. Croix; J. H. Bennett, Rock; Third District, Elisha Morrow, Brown; L. E. Frisby, Washington.

It will look funny to see Elisha Morrow voting for Seward, a politician whose opinions and measures he has opposed from boyhood up to 1856. Has Seward changed? Can the leopard change his spots or the Ethiopian his skin?

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, March 9, 1935
Gov. Philip F. LaFollette, announced in a radio address that he would ask the Wisconsin legislature to take the initiative in organizing and using the vast human and material resources of the state in a program that would give employment to every one capable of working.

The assembly passed the Daugs bill legalizing consolidation of counties without further legislative approval and setting up procedure under which two or more counties may unite.

William E. Buchanan, chairman of the chamber of commerce legislative committee, was attending the district legislative meeting at Sheboygan.

Dr. M. N. Pitz, Neenah, was to be the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick church.

L. M. Lamkins of Manawa was named secretary of the Wisconsin Locally owned Telephone association when directors of the organization met at Madison.

against Sec. of State Acheson appeared to be developing behind the scenes of the communist hunt inspired by Sen. McCarthy.

Plans for the new Franklin school were to be presented for approval by the board of education at its monthly meeting Monday. Superintendent of Schools John P. Mann and about 20 teachers, principals and supervisors that week visited the newly-opened Chappel elementary school at Green Bay to get ideas.

A special committee of the county board, appointed to study the operation of the Outagamie county police department in an effort to improve the efficiency of the department, prepared a set of rules which it would submit to the county board on March 14 for discussion and adoption.

George S. Branchley, Oshkosh, was named Winnebago county crew leader for the 1950 census by Wilmer F. Klipstine, district supervisor of the bureau of census with headquarters at Fond du Lac.

Our Hollow Tree

There it stands by the winding lane
In its shroud of clinging vine
Casting shadows along our path
The path that was yours and mine

Its leaves turning from green to gold
As in those faraway days
The birds still nestling in its boughs
When the sun sends dying rays

Reverently I bow my head
I weep as I bend a knee
For this the place that held our thoughts
This our dear old hollow tree

Sweet words of joy it brought to me
And many that gave me pain
Still eagerly I sought this tree
At the end of lover's lane

I peer into that sacred place
My eager heart full of fears
Perchance a letter there for me
Held in the arms of the years

I turn away with empty hands
I whisper an earnest plea
That time may bring the word I seek
To our dear old hollow tree

Catholic Church Binding Only In Spiritual and Moral Matters

Editor, Post-Crescent:

"Loyal Democrat" fairly and unemotionally raises a point that is probably troubling many non-Catholics. Certainly most of the Catholics would be as appalled by the "religious prejudice" issue used as a crying towel by a Catholic candidate's supporters as they would be if he were defeated by a prejudice that could be proven.

But "Loyal Democrat" is mistaken if he believes the Catholic church or the Vatican to be a "foreign government." The laws and directives binding upon all Roman Catholics as promulgated by the church relate only to the spiritual and moral well-being of her faithful. While bishops are appointed by the pope and guidance given them, the strictly temporal affairs of the dioceses are not managed by an "authoritarian" hand, in the Vatican. Vatican City itself, of course, has a local governmental structure. The earthly head of a church which has members all over the world, simply must reside somewhere, since he is not ubiquitous.

The Catholic church has no "best interests" in Spain or any other country, except the spiritual well-being of her faithful. If, for example, a political leader of any country uses his religion's numerical strength in that country as a sort of moralistic club to keep himself in power, he does this through his own shrewd, calculating nature — certainly not at the behest of or with the sanction of the Roman Catholic church. At the same time, although the man may be a dictator, the church cannot reach out a long arm and sweep him out of power. She simply does not deal in purely political matters, except to reiterate over and over her opposition to totalitarianism, whether it be facism or atheistic communism. Several years ago, however, when a Spanish cardinal issued statements critical of the presence of Protestant denominations in Spain, he received a reprimand from the Vatican.

A Catholic president could not have divided "political" loyalty. The Catholic church gives no "political" directives and exacts no "political" penalties. Such honors as she bestows (Knight of St. Gregory, for example) are "testimonials" to a man's devotion to God and country. They would certainly never be given to a traitor.

The spiritual realm which is the Catholic church's concern (and is or should be that of any church) would bind a Catholic president only in conscience. And if he were true to his conscience he would be undeviatingly loyal to the country he was sworn to uphold.

Highways and Health Provide Tax Picture

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — An apparently faithful but critical reader has several times penned objections to conclusions published here that Wisconsin is heading into a sales tax program and that the combination of political appetites and economic circumstances confronting it leave no practicable alternative.

Unlike some others, however, this critic suggests as one of the prime objections to sales taxation the likelihood that tax revenues will flow into the state treasury so painlessly and so abundantly as to invite an era of profligacy in public expenditures.

An objective response must be that a sales tax would, indeed, present that danger. The hazard would also and obviously be present under an income tax withholding system, with the difference that in the latter instance the severely discriminatory rate schedule would be obscured and legislators probably could increase the progressivity of the rates with political impunity.

THE FLOW

But to return to the objection, it is perfectly evident that under a sales tax of any common dimension the money would come in with such abundance as to cause uncontrolled slandering among some of the spending lobbies.

ILLUSTRATION

Nor is this a theoretical or conjectural idea. A handy illustration comes to mind.

On the route that this reporter takes to his downtown Madison office each morning the state highway department is building a huge road separation. The precise cost is not relevant here. But the chances are that the improvement when it is completed will represent a public investment of half a million dollars.

There is no intention here to suggest that there was anything wrong with the highway department's decision. No doubt this improvement qualified by its standards, and the standards of public demand for highway service today. Scores of similar improvements are being completed everywhere in the state, and there is nothing to show that the highway using public isn't pleased about the whole thing.

But the other morning this driver noted on that highway a state department of health mobile tuberculosis testing vehicle. It creaked along at a painful pace, spotted with rust, with eroded holes in a couple of fenders, displaying child, was a wasteful expense.

I was sufficiently interested to ask the senator about this. It seems that the main purpose of his letter was to offer a service: namely, the Children's Bureau's excellent booklet on child care which has been helpful to millions of American families including the Proxmires' (and I might add, the present writer). Most congressmen of both parties send it to all new parents automatically, while Sen. Proxmire feels that it is an economy to send it only to those who really want it. Many Wisconsin families, he says, do.

This objective, it seems to me, puts a fair and constructive light on the matter.

Aging Alligator Sad Over Changing Cats

Cool Jive Combo Short of Jumping Gigs in Good, Dim Days of Past

BY JINGO
In the good, dim days of live entertainment an alligator could spend an evening catching cats jiving in a bevy of birdlands thrilling to sounds that were real gone backed by beats that had the joints jumping.
Those were the good old days, 15, 20 years ago — how time flies!
Today sounds are usually caught thumping out of garish boxes. The boxes blind and the sounds — on the most part — are repetitious and deafening. And they don't rock the roost! They aren't even listened to.
The good old days seem to be gone — but not quite. On Appleton's main stem there is a roost sporting a combo of cool cats that make fine sounds — but only one day a week, Wednesday. The gig answers to Retson's Olympic Sandwich shop — on paper — the Superburger to those who are hep.

The combo is backed by a mean beat supplied by Jim Retson — Jimmy James to the prom crowd — who fronts for the rotating roster. This week the combo sported a doghouse, an 88, an alto and an inflated horn thought to be called a bass cornet.

Things aren't as an aging alligator might remember them.

The sound is cool, no Chicago theme or New Orleans drive. The boys kick around improvisations as intricate as a geometric theorem. It's an individual kind of music, hardly classifiable as solid, but it's the kind that's understood in these days of living in intricate geometric theorems.

The crowd and the roost is different, too. The air is only faintly blue with smoke and the cats blow into a crowd of youngsters more interested in themselves. The joint wasn't jumping, alas.

When television was little more than photographed radio, the cinema moguls wrote seven figured checks and roamed the world to film stupendous movies of the grandest style to draw the audiences away from the 1-eyed monsters in the living rooms.

The tactics must have worked, for now television, ABC at least, is taking a page from Hollywood's book. William Goetz is planning to go to Israel with Jeff Chandler to film a 2-hour spectacular on the life of David for the '60-'61 season.

The 1924 Democratic Convention

BY HARRY GOLDEN
While there have been many elections which took the country up one road or another, not since 1924 has there been a convention at which a large decision about a party policy was made.

The Democratic convention of 1924 represented the first challenge of the cities against the rural states for political leadership. There were four candidates who wanted the nomination in 1924, and one of them was a Southerner and another a Roman Catholic.

The rural states wanted to nominate William G. McAdoo, Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law, a former secretary of the treasury, and William Jennings Bryan's political heir. The cities wanted Al Smith, New York's governor who favored the repeal of prohibition and some sort of federal action against the Ku Klux Klan.

Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama's senior senator, a sworn foe of the Klan but a dry, was also in the running. And the convention dark horse was John W. Davis, formerly an ambassador to the Court of St. James.

During Heat Wave
The convention was held in New York city at the Old Madison Square Garden between 26th and 27th streets. It opened in June during the worst heat wave of the city's history. Immediately there

Several New Tunes Out, 'Teen Angel' Still Tops

BY DICK DISC
The top tune of the week again this week is "Teen Angel" by Mark Dunning. The tune has been top of the listing for the last month now.

Another big one, in second place this week, is "He'll Have to Go" by county and western singer Jim Reeves. This record has been climbing on the chart for the last four weeks.

Several tunes debut this week. They are "Forever" by The Little Dippers and "You've Got What It Takes" by Marv Johnson.

Top tune in the nation, according to Billboard, is teams; concert bands; and for the second year divisions for male or female popular vocalists.

The northeastern Wisconsin festival is a preliminary to the Chicagoland Music festival to be held in Chicago Aug. 20.

- Here's the local top 10:
1. "Teen Angel" by Mark Dunning.
 2. "He'll Have to Go" by Jim Reeves.
 3. "Theme From A Summer Place" by Percy Faith.
 4. "Handy Man" by Jimmy Jones.
 5. "Running Bear" by Johnny Preston.
 6. "Let It Be Me" by the Everly Brothers.
 7. "Wild One" by Bobby Rydell.
 8. "Beyond the Sea" by Bobby Darin.
 9. "Forever" by The Little Dippers.
 10. "You've Got What It Takes" by Harry Johnson.

Ten years ago "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy" was on top and five years ago "Melody of Love" was a big one.

New in Albums
"Join Bing and Sing Along 33 Great Songs" with Bing Crosby and his friends. Bing Crosby, believe it or not, has swung to the Sing Along parade along with Mitch Miller and his friends.

Some of songs are corny, as is the style and idea. Lyrics are included. Songs sung include oldies like "Meet Me In St. Louis," "All I Do Is Dream of You," "Heart of My Heart" and other nostalgia. The songs have never been recorded before in this fashion. For Sing Along it's fine, for general listening the album though led by the master, leaves something to be desired.

"Down By the Station" with the Four Preps. Teen-inspired album of old hits made popular by this now well-known quartet. Included are swifty little ditties like the title tune, "26 Miles," and others. You have heard the songs before, but this is the first time that they've been incorporated into an album. Likeable listening.

Reject Criticisms Of 1959 Deer Hunt

Report Indicates Wisconsin in
For Another Liberal Shooting
Season Again This November

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A big game advisory committee of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress has rejected criticisms of the 1959 fall deer hunting season which produced a generous harvest of more than 100,000 deer, including more than 50,000 does and fawns.

The committee report was written by Roman Papka, Milwaukee sportsman and lawyer, and secretary of the advisory committee named by the state conservation commission to make annual deer yard examinations after the hunting seasons for the preparation of recommendations for subsequent shooting regulations.

Papka said his group toured the deer country, including the sections of heaviest harvest, "and found ample evidence of an adequate deer herd in all areas."

The committee report hailed

Campers Give State Huge Money Boost

Madison — The second phase of a study of Wisconsin's tourist industry shows the state's 271 summer camps give it a $6,300,000 boost each year.

The University of Wisconsin study dealt with both private camps and those operated by religious and fraternal organizations. It was financed by a $25,000 legislative appropriation.

The study showed 42.3 per cent of the boys and girls attending private camps came from the metropolitan Chicago area. The figure was 11.6 per cent for the religious and fraternal camps.

Camp operators, the study concluded, find paid advertising plays a small part in total recruitment of campers. It said about 50 per cent reported advertising expenditures.

Most of the campers, the study said, come from Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio and Michigan. Figures showed private camping enterprises also draw a large number from more distant states.

Plastic Key Material in Boat Business

Nearly 40 Per Cent
Of New Craft This Year Made From It

New York — Plastics are gaining an increasing share of the U.S. pleasure boat business.

This year, an estimated 150,000 plastic boats will be built, nearly 40 per cent of new U.S. boats. About 130,000 reinforced - plastic pleasure boats were made in 1959. Production in 1958 reached about 85,000.

Plastic boat production is expected to crest at about 60-80 per cent of the market in the next few years, with output hitting 300,000 units. Meanwhile, the boat market will be growing and other types of boats will share in it.

To the chemical process industries, the boat boom spells big business in many ways, especially in the sale of polyester resins used in glass-reinforced plastics. About 75 million pounds of reinforced plastics (including glass fiber, resins, pigments, fillers and others) were used in boats in 1959; about 36.9 million pounds, in 1958.

Estimated Increase
Another industry estimate puts polyester resin consumption (excluding glass) at 40 million pounds a year now, 90 million pounds in 1958.

But success of glass-reinforced polyester boats was largely responsible for a cut-back in plywood consumption in pleasure boat manufacture — which, in turn, reduced the demand for plywood adhesives. About 171 million square feet of plywood were used in 1958, 165 million in 1959.

Aluminum, on the other hand, has been gaining as a boat construction material. It won a 50-million-pound boat market in 1959, compared to 47 million pounds required in 1958.

Also benefiting from gains made in boat construction are a host of other chemical products ranging from essential supplies, such as marine paints and varnishes — 12 million gallons in 1959 — to a plethora of less essential but attractive boating gadgets.

Other Plastics to Gain
Despite the polyesters' big lead — which they undoubtedly will hold for a long time — other types of plastics are not to be counted out. Epoxies and phenolics are expected to cut into the polyesters' market share.

Plastic boat production this year will be hampered by shortages of reinforced plastics. The trouble doesn't lie in resin supplies — which CPI producers say are plentiful — but rather in a shortage of glass-fiber reinforcement.

The glass pinch plagued the reinforced-plastics industry through much of 1959. A spokesman for the glass industry now explains that the shortage was created by demands that overtaxed production facilities.

Urges Cooperation

Warden Will Provide Feed for Wildlife

BY CHUCK WRANOSKY
Outagamie County Game Warden

Our pheasant population is almost nothing here in Outagamie county and we must do all we can for the very few birds we have left.

If any of you know where there are a few birds that need feed you can get the feed from me. Call or drop a Wranosky post card and I will see that you get some corn.

Feeding birds is fun and it gives a man some personal satisfaction to know that he is doing something to help our low game population. Too often people think only of hunting in the fall and not the rest of the year. It takes work all year long to make for game in the fall.

Also by this getting out in the winter a person can learn his hunting area. From the tracks in the snow a person can see just what kind of game population we have and what to expect for the fall. If there is no seed you can't expect a crop in the fall.

This is also a good time to take a young son along and start him on the way of a true sportsman. It's the youngsters of today who will be the sportsmen of tomorrow.

The spearing of any game fish, except sturgeon during the open season, is very definitely illegal. In fact, the possession or control of any gun, bow and arrow, spear or similar device that might be used for the purpose of taking, catching or killing fish on any inland waters or shores of inland waters is illegal in many counties from March 2nd to April 20th. Those counties in the east central area where this regulation is in effect are Brown, Calumet, Door, Kewaunee, Manitowoc, Outagamie, Ozauc, Portage, Washington, and Winnebago (except Waukau Creek).

The list of counties having this regulation has increased considerably in the last few years as the need for such a regulation has been pointed out very vividly. During this period of time, northern pike especially, are very active in their spawning activities and are vulnerable to the spear. Also, rough fish are relatively inactive at this time of the year, so there is little opportunity to spear them.

Many Arrests
Last spring many arrests were made for spearing during this period of time and many northern pike were confiscated which had been speared, shot, etc.

If we are to maintain a population of northern pike, strict enforcement of this regulation is imperative, and counties not presently covered by it, should consider being added to the list. This could be done at your May congress hearing.

Possession or control of any of the above mentioned equipment is illegal from sunset to sunrise on any of the inland waters or shores of inland waters during the entire year.

BOATING BRIEFS
by Skipper Sam

TOO MANY NEW BOAT OWNERS JUST JUMP IN THE BOAT, PUSH THE BUTTON AND GO! Actually, they haven't taken the time to find out what's happening inside their equipment. The first thing that the new boat owner should do is to learn from the manufacturer's literature just what your boat and motor are designed to do. Then learn how to make it do the job! Don't push your boat beyond its designed capacity. It will then give you finer service and greater pleasure return on your time and money — and remember —

CLARK & LUND, your Christ-Craft headquarters in Oshkosh, is always ready with the latest in boating equipment and sleek inboards for your needs — and give you plenty of advice on the proper use of them. Convenient terms, of course.

Hunting for Ginseng Now Lost Sport

Wild Root Almost Extinct in Most Sections of State

Ginseng hunting, one of the hobbies of many Wisconsin outdoors-minded residents in past decades, is a vanishing sport.

The wild root which is a favorite medicinal source for millions of Orientals and once found a ready export market for Wisconsin frontiersmen is now virtually extinct in the Wisconsin woods where it was abundant, says the Wisconsin conservation department.

Although some persons have managed to domesticate it and produce it commercially, the plant is difficult to raise.

Many a Wisconsin rural family, or those with a taste for autumn forest excursions, used to look upon ginseng root as a source of cash income.

Foreign Market
The product sold readily in foreign markets, and especially to the Chinese, who attribute to it a wide range of curative powers and the capacity to promote longevity.

During the Korean war, when Korean sources were cut off, the value of the root rose to more than $20 a pound.

Delmar Houts, a Taylor county woodsman, recalled for readers of the Wisconsin conservation bulletin the appeal of ginseng hunting in former times.

"In early autumn when the berries are ripe the 'sang' hunter goes into the peace and solitude of the forest with a small mattock, a sack, a compass and a sandwich. Instantly he can sense the presence of ginseng by his knowledge of the forest floor and by its companion plants, the maidenhair fern, the red and the white baneberry and spikenard."

Need a Bulldozer?
It Can be Rented
Chicago — Need a bulldozer, a mobile fork lift or aircraft maintenance equipment? These and other heavy equipment now can be rented.

Walter L. Jacobs, president of an equipment leasing firm that rents automobiles nationwide, says it is a natural extension of its service.

Launch Study of Reservation Deer

Experience May Help in Other
Management Areas in Wisconsin

State game biologists have begun a study of the unique deer range and deer cropping within the Menominee Indian reservation in Shawano and Oconto counties.

The reservation is unusual in having managed both timber and the deer crop on a sustained basis, according to the state game division, and the lessons of the experience may be useful in future management of deer and woods in other northern Wisconsin districts.

"Few areas exist in Wisconsin or the other lake states where hemlock and yellow birch seedlings exist side by side with deer. Such a situation is looked upon with envy by foresters and game men alike," reservation officials were told by the state technicians.

One Objective
One objective of the study is to determine how such conditions can be maintained after the reservation becomes a county, and is subject to the ordinary game harvesting rules applied by the conservation department to all other districts.

For many years the Indians on the reservation have operated under their own fishing and hunting rules, as a part of their status as wards of the national government.

The state study will compile data on deer harvesting, populations, and forest reproduction.

Biologist William Creed of the Black River Falls station is in charge of the investigation for the state. Indians are now being asked to collaborate in providing information on their 1859 deer hunting experience on reservation lands.

Public Meeting
Monday Night
On River Issue
Gene Garrow, New London, president of the Wolf River improvement association will be guest speaker at Monday night's meeting of the Outagamie County Conservation club.

The meeting, open to the public, will start at 8 p. m. at the Outagamie county courthouse.

Jim Kranzusch, club secretary, said Garrow will discuss his group's plans for the Wolf river and then open the meeting to questions and answers. Anyone interested in the Wolf or having questions about its improvement is invited to attend, Kranzusch said.

Believe Name Might Help Rough Fish Sales
Madison — The state fisheries division, worrying about low prices in the market place for carp, sheepshead and other non-sport fishes, believes that their saleability may be improved if they are called "commercial fish."

"That is exactly what they are," said the division in a report to the conservation commission noting that prices received lately have been consistently low and insufficient to pay for the cost of harvesting from the lakes where seining is undertaken for the improvement of sports fishing conditions.

"My Hammond Is My Hobby," says Mrs. Roland Arndt of 1630 Ravinia place, Appleton. First president and founder of the Hammond Organ club of the Fox Cities, she and Mr. Arndt are seen above enjoying the thrill of creating beautiful music with their Hammond chord organ.

The fact that Mrs. Arndt has never had a formal musical education but still plays a full repertoire of everyone's favorite melodies, is proof positive that the Hammond Organ studio's statement "Anyone can Play a Tune in Minutes on the Hammond Chord Organ" is true and correct.

Readers are invited to stop in at Hammond Organ Studios of the Fox Cities, located at 788 W. Foster street, across from Valley Fair Shopping center, and let one of their representatives or teachers show them how easy it is to play a Hammond Chord organ.

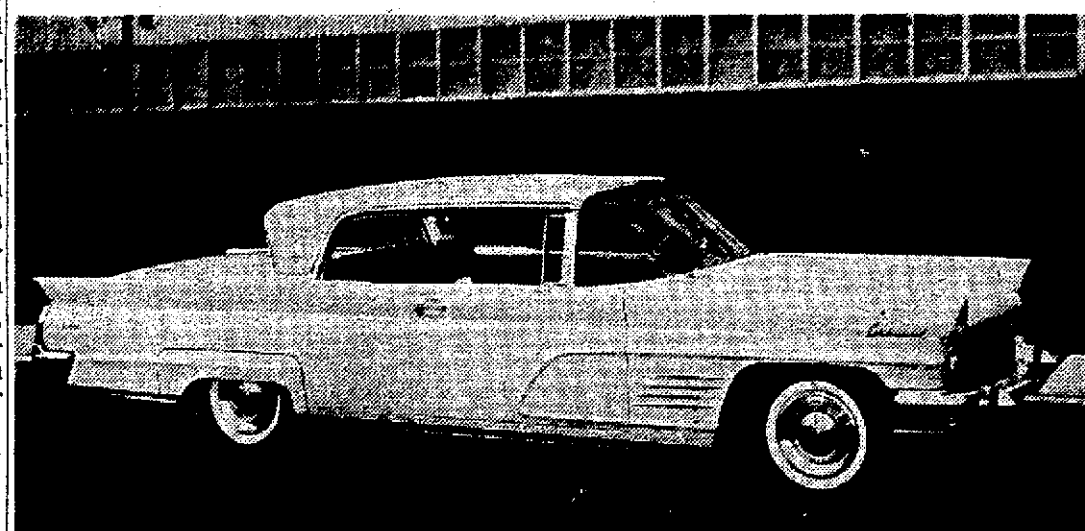

In the privacy of one of their studios, you may enjoy the thrill of creating beautiful music yourself, in just minutes. Or if you prefer, call Hammond Organ Studios of Fox Cities, RE 4-0083, and ask for a free home demonstration without obligation. The Hammond Chord Organ club of the Fox Cities meets regularly at 8 p.m. on the fourth Saturday of each month at the Hammond Organ studios. Planned programs offer a variety of entertainment as well as instruction sessions and helps those who wish to develop new and improved techniques in playing.

Each meeting ends with refreshments and the usual session and exchange of ideas among members. The next meeting will be March 26. The next meeting of the Fox Valley Chapter of the Hammond Organ society will be held at the Hammond Organ Studios of Fox Cities on March 30 at 8 p.m. A program of religious music in conjunction with the Lenten and pre-Easter season has been planned by Mrs. Kay Andrus, well-known church organist from Two Rivers, who will play and offer instructions as well as hold an informal question and answer session.

The clean, classic lines of light visibility through the front windshield in the Lincoln Continental has been attained by shortening the front portion of the roof two inches. The new roof design has resulted in a different shaped rear window with a very fast slope and an additional 177 square inches of glass area for improved rearward visibility on all Lincoln models. This is a good time to buy your freezer, fresh frozen sides and quarters to put in fruit and vegetables and your freezer, says Bob Rougeau of Rougeau's Super Market and Locker Plant. Rougeau's beef is all government inspected and graded. The experienced meatmen at Rougeau's will cut and wrap the beef according to the customer's specifications. It is then sharp frozen for safe storing. Rougeau's have an easy payment plan with six months to pay, and no money down. If you rent a locker, the small fee is added to the monthly installments. It is by far the most economical way to buy good wholesome food for your family, Rougeau said, and the best way to take advantage of low prices and large lot buying.

Besides the beef, Rougeau also recommends whole or half hogs, to be cut to your specifications. Put sausage in Your Children's Feet Are Precious, claim Heckert's Shoe company, 119 E. College avenue. For that reason Heckert's have an exclusive department for children and specially trained fitters for their younger customers.

The feet of babies and children must have the best care according to Earl Miller of Heckert's Shoe company. He said that there is a great deal of difference in fitting a shoe on a youngster as compared to fitting an adult. Mrs. John Thomas of the children's department of Heckert's has had special training and does a careful and conscientious job of fitting small feet.

Because of their concern for children's feet, Heckert's carry two of the finest lines of young people's shoes and has an extremely wide range of sizes, including some of those hard to find sizes.

In the Pied Piper line, new brown scuff proof moccasin toe and loafers for girls. It will soon be "tennie" due to a new treatment. They have sandals in light colors and crepe soles — the bone elk will be a good shade in the spring line, Miller said.

Viking Automatic 21 shown here has often been called "the sewing machine with the dancing needle." Yes, you just move one button and Husqvarna's Viking automatic literally dances from one type of stitch to another... even while the machine is running. No attachments or cam changing is required to make or mend any type garment, make buttonholes, sew on buttons, blind hem, overcast or embroider.

"Breathes there a seamstress with soul so dead, that never to herself hath said — Why, I could make it myself for half that price!"

Trudell's at Valley Fair Shopping center will go along with that. In fact, they will go further. Savings, most certainly, but also the woman who sews for herself has the satisfaction of creating, the pleasure of wearing something original, and the fun of relaxing while sewing with the amazing Viking Automatic 21.

The Viking 21 comes from the master craftsmen of the world, Sweden's great Husqvarna works, and is often called the world's most perfect free arm automatic sewing machine. It has 100 per cent jam-proof mechanism, Executives Attending a regional meeting of Sherwin-Williams paint dealers at the Appleton Hotel Friday, March 4, included Jack Brown, left, branch manager from Great Falls, Montana, and (right) Paul Bewie, regional Sherwin-Williams director of Chicago, who conducted the meeting. Dealers were introduced to "A-100," a new rubber-base Sherwin-Williams exterior house paint, soon to be introduced on the market, according to Charles Shannon, local district manager for the firm.

A new house paint that promises "to make exterior painting as easy as interior painting" will be introduced in the Appleton area this week.

This was revealed today by Paul R. Bewie, regional director for the Sherwin-Williams Co. in Chicago, who was here to conduct a meeting of representatives of the paint firm at Hotel Appleton. Name of the new product is Sherwin-Williams A-100 Latex house paint.

Terming the new paint "a major breakthrough in paint progress," Bewie pointed out that it brushes on as smoothly and easily as familiar interior paints; dries in a matter of minutes; and painting tools can be cleaned up with water.

"What's more," he added, "it can be used on practically every type of exterior surface. Wood siding, wooden shakes and shingles can all be covered with a durable, water-proof film. This means that

Mrs. Jackie Kennedy, strikingly pretty wife of Sen. John F., managed to shake one more hand and wish one more person a weary hello as she met a capacity audience of well-wishers at a reception in the couple's honor Friday at the Masonic temple.

Appleton, by-passing her husband's talk at Lawrence Memorial union, has been hitting the campaign trail with Kennedy since he announced his candidacy for the presidency.

Attired in a chic red coat and black silk sheath jacket, the senator's wife charmed the audience with her shy and reserved, yet friendly manner of conversation.

Parents of the bride-elect are Mr. and Mrs. Omer E. Schroeder, 513 E. Randall street, and her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Christensen, 409 W. Eighth street.

Miss Dona Gretzinger, Milwaukee, will be maid of honor, and Miss Bonnie Mader, bridesmaid.

Christensen has chosen Keith Bowen, Wild Rose, for best man, Ed Wirth as groomsmen, and ushers will be his brother, Robert Christensen, and Robert Schroeder.

After the ceremony, a reception and dinner for the immediate family and friends will be held at the Appleton Elks club.

Miss Schroeder and Christensen both graduated from Appleton High school. She now works in the personnel division of the Kimberly-Clark corporation. He is associated with Tschank and Christensen Heating Contractors.

After a wedding trip to Phoenix, Ariz., the newlyweds will live at 2064 E. College avenue.

Mrs. John Kennedy appeared in Appleton last night at a reception at the Masonic temple in honor of her husband, Democratic senator from Massachusetts who is campaigning in the Wisconsin presidential primary. Mrs. Kennedy enjoys the political life, but she says, it is hectic and tiring.

Store Sweaters In Tin Lard Can

Nothing provides a better storing place for sweaters during the summer months than a large size tin lard can. Enamel the outside to match the color scheme of room in which it will be placed and paste a miniature sweater on the center of the front, one that has been cut from felt. Be sure that sweaters are absolutely clean and moth proofed then fold them neatly in the can. Place the lid on tightly and place the can in bedroom, closet or basement.

In Good Taste 15-Minute Role Old, Accepted

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Not long ago you said in an answer to someone who had asked how long it was necessary to wait for a late guest, that 15 minutes at the utmost was the requirement, and then not to wait any longer. I was very much surprised by this answer and think it would be a very rude thing to do to a guest.

Answer: A guest who is habitually late deserves no special consideration; one who has been unavoidably detained would be much more comfortable if she feels she has not annoyed everyone else by having to wait for her. The allowance of "15 minutes grace" is one of the oldest and most accepted rules of etiquette. It is not considered half as rude to fail to wait for the one guest who is late as to expect the many who were on time to wait for one delinquent.

Last Name Only

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to have your opinion on the practice of calling a man (or even a boy) by his last name only. For example, "Jones," "Smith," "Robinson," etc. This seems very rude to me and I think that he would either be addressed as Mr. Jones, or if he is very young, as John.

Answer: Calling someone by a last name is really halfway between the intimacy of a first name and the formality of Mr. It is decidedly European but is also used here in America in boy's prep schools and in business and in the armed forces.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-16, entitled "Table Rules of Importance," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Storing Hint

If a garment to be stored has only a small part of wool in it, the treatment in storing must be the same as with an all wool garment. Moth larvae will get to the wool content and can badly damage the fabric in doing so.

Musicians Please Concert Audience

By Marguerite Schumann

The art of the string quartet is admittedly aristocratic in origin, but over the centuries it has become safely non-political.

The way things were on the east end of College avenue last night, however, the Republicans (along with the Norman Thomas men still left around) went to the Curtis String Quartet in Lawrence college's Memorial chapel, while the Democrats flocked in to meet Sen. John Kennedy at the Masonic temple. The traffic piled into the space of one block, doing homage to this combined galaxy of stars, was a joy to behold.

But let no political straws be snatched out of the wind and waved as significant — attendance at the rival functions was democratically equal.

American quartet because it came forth during the same trip to the cornbelt that produced the New World symphony, is gentle kindly writing. It is full of simple, persuasive songs developed into a surprisingly sophisticated fabric.

The fragments were a mystical and moving "La Oracion del Torero" (Prayer of a Bull-fighter) by Joaquin Turina; a completely captivating Canoneta from Quartet No. 1, Op. 12 (in this Mendelssohn borrowed from his own Midsummer Night Dream music to such an extent that you could almost hear the flutter of Titania's wings), and Shostakovich's razor-sharp satire of a polka from "The Golden Age." This last was cornball and delightful. The ham was sliced wonderfully thin, but it was still ham.

The evening of a string quartet was the rarest sort of gift to Lawrence audiences from a great lady and patron of the arts who has never laid eyes on Lawrence college but has her reasons to be interested in it. She is one whose name would be recognized instantly by almost anyone who reads the papers, but in the manner of the truly great, she insists on anonymity. In case these modest paragraphs should fall into her hands, perhaps the 1,200 persons who were her guests last evening would like them to say thank you.

There has been no dearth of good music during this festival year at Lawrence, but the Curtis Quartet's evening is one of the most memorable. The tone of a quartet is a delicate living organism — delicate, perhaps, but the pulse of life and small-scaled drama is ever in it. This quartet is one of the best in the business — Jascha Brodsky and Mehli Mehta, violins; Max Aronoff, viola and Orlando Cole, cello.

Their tone qualities married like four seasonings in a sauce — totally satisfying and totally interdependent. There is no need to comment that they play as one, for that is one of the requirements of the quartet business and few have dared show themselves on a serious stage if they couldn't.

Well-Meaning Woman Slapped In Face for Helping Family

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: At Christmas time we wanted to help a needy family. For our kindness we received a slap in the face. I've been fuming for months and decided to get your opinion.

This family lives a block away. There are six small Ann Landers children who always look ragged. The mother is a worn-out little thing and the father is a sergeant in the marine corps.

During the holidays I went over with some good used clothing and a carton of food. The door was almost slammed in my face. I was told they didn't need charity and to take the stuff to someone who could use it.

Do enlisted men get an allowance for each child? Do they get housing, medical care and a pension? If I had an idea of what this man earned I'd feel better. Can you help me or is this information secret?—Wondering

DEAR WONDERING: I'm sure you meant well but next time check with a welfare agency and learn who needs help. Or give directly to the agency and let them distribute to the needy.

A marine corps sergeant with eight years of service gets $325.90 a month if he has two children. There is no extra allotment for additional children. The basic allowance for living quarters is $96.90 a month if there are more than two dependents. The sergeant and his family are entitled to some medical care, and there's a retirement plan after 20 years.

A marine sergeant with six kids may well be hard-pressed financially, but he can work out a loan at low interest with the help of a government agency.

DEAR ANN: I met this man when I was a waitress at a very nice restaurant. I knew he was married but I didn't care. I had just been divorced and was lonesome. He said his wife was a nice person but not very good company.

He talked about divorcing his wife and marrying me but nothing ever came of it. We went together four years and I gave birth to a baby boy. The boy is now 5 and notices that he doesn't have a father. This man supports the child but he doesn't spend any time with us. I told the child he's my cousin.

Is there any legal action I can take to force a marriage? I'm beginning to think I was a little fool. — No Ring

DEAR NO RING: Well — comes the dawn. You weren't a little fool, you were a big one. The man is married and the law recognizes only one wife at a time. If he is supporting the child he is meeting his legal obligation.

Good Rule to Never Risk Contract for Overtrick

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

How hard should you try for an extra trick?

The answer depends on the contract, who is playing the hand, where the hand is being played, what risk is involved and a host of other factors.

Let's take a simple case. The contract is four spades with both sides vulnerable. The question is whether or not to play for an overtrick.

Early in the evening, when everybody's quite fresh, you might spend a minute or two

Early in the evening, when everybody's quite fresh, you might spend a minute or two		when you play a hand in a tournament at an unimportant contract, like two clubs, you struggle just as hard to make an extra trick as if you were trying to make the twelfth trick at a slam contract. There's no such thing as an unimportant contract in a tournament.
North dealer North-South vulnerable		When you read about the national tournament now being held in Jackson, Miss., you'll see hands that were doubled, or slam contracts, with hundreds of points hanging in the balance. All very exciting, but these hands seldom decide a championship. The chances are that the championships will be decided on the attempt to get 30 additional points. A couple of hours later, however, an opponent would bark bitterly: "We'll give you the 30 points if you're so hungry. Let's get on to the next hand."

This is especially true if you're playing the hand on a commuting train. You can get away with bad bidding or bad play or both in a commuters' game, but you can't get away with anything that wastes time.

Personalities alter cases. I played very little bridge during World War II; the government had other ideas about what I should be doing. But I did get into one game in New Delhi with a 2-star general who liked to play for extra tricks. The next highest rank in the game was a mere lieutenant colonel. You may find it hard to believe, but nobody told the general to stop stalling.

Question of Risk

If your attempt to snag an extra trick will jeopardize an otherwise sure contract, you have to be slightly crazy to play for the extra trick. The difference between making the game and going down one is 720 points. You can practically never afford to gamble 720 points in the attempt to gain a mere 30 points.

Suppose you play for the extra trick is safe unless each of four finesses loses. Now you know what you'd do if you took four finesses and lost each one of them. You'd be throwing things, and your partner would be muttering, and the opponents would be snickering. But this is only a 15 to 1 shot. When you gamble 720 points to pick up only 30 you need odds of 24 to 1 in your favor.

It's possible to work out hands in which this kind of risk is mathematically sound, but it isn't worth the trouble. It's simpler and very nearly exact to follow this conservative rule: Don't risk an otherwise guaranteed contract in the attempt to make an extra trick.

Tournaments Differ

You can't apply this conservative rule in a tournament. If you fail to play for extra tricks in tournament you'll make lots of friends—but none of them will be willing to take you on as a partner.

When you play a hand in a tournament at an unimportant contract, like two clubs, you struggle just as hard to make an extra trick as if you were trying to make the twelfth trick at a slam contract. There's no such thing as an unimportant contract in a tournament.

When you read about the national tournament now being held in Jackson, Miss., you'll see hands that were doubled, or slam contracts, with hundreds of points hanging in the balance. All very exciting, but these hands seldom decide a championship. The chances are that the championships will be decided by five or six drab hands in which the only struggle is to make an overtrick worth 20 or 30 points.

Unsafe Hands

We've dealt thus far with safe hands because it's easy to set forth a rule in such cases. In rubber bridge you disregard the extra tricks if you can make sure of the contract; in tournament bridge you often disregard the contract if you have a reasonable play for extra tricks.

But what do you play for if the contract itself is from secure? For example, put yourself in the South seat in this hand:

When this hand was played, West opened the queen of spades, reserving the clubs for later. Pierre Jais, the great French expert, was South.

Jais saw that he could take five tricks in top cards. If he took those, barring some unusually good break, he would be minus 500 points.

Costly Finesse

Jais then considered the heart finesse. If it worked, he would probably make nine tricks, and he would be plus 530 points.

What would you do? Would you settle for five sure tricks, or would you try to make the contract?

Jais won the first trick with the ace of spades and let the nine of hearts ride for a finesse. It was a bold move, but costly.

East won with the queen of hearts and led the king of spades. West unblocked by dropping the jack of spades, and East ran the rest of the spades.

By the time East led his last spade declarer was pale and exhausted. He could save only five cards in the dummy and needed all four clubs to stop that suit. He had to throw away dummy's ace of diamonds and keep just the ace of hearts and four clubs. East thereupon led a heart

Children Confined to Bed Need Mental, Physical Guidance

If your doctor has ordered your child to bed for a period of rest, your first thought will probably be, how can I keep an active child in bed? Or what will bed-rest do to the child that has been "on his own" in his physical routines such as eating, sleeping, and elimination? You know he likes his friends and enjoys his fun with them, so what about his social life if he is all alone in his bed? Then, too, he has been interested in physical skills. How can he be quiet?

The first thing to do is prepare yourself and set your mind in positive thinking. A child that is convalescing needs guidance to balance his needs both physically, mentally, and emotionally, so that his period of rest will not affect his total personality. Emotional instability and apprehension are characteristic of any cardiac child and must be expected.

Then, too, the disease and the convalescence do interfere with his normal activities so that he becomes a frustrated child. But because he is young and flexible he will be capable of adjusting to his limitations and making the most of them. He is not the first child to have to rest in bed for a long period of time.

1. Explain to your child his limitations and make him responsible for following the doctor's orders without bribery and arguments.

2. Demand reasonable behavior and discipline.

3. Discuss his fears; this will diminish them. And remember, he will seem fearful if you seem fearful.

4. Make him feel a part of the family group and not a burden.

5. Accept the illness and make the best of it rather than using it as an excuse. Praise him for good behavior.

6. Let him feel he is doing the greatest part in getting well.

7. Lead a normal life yourself. Visit with your friends, entertain some, and keep up club, sewing circle, or church. See 1st ad children confined to bed.

8. Select visitors with care, avoiding those who complain about their own illnesses, those who would smother the child with sympathy, or those who have a cold.

9. Ask them to limit gifts to very simple things as a child might begin to think it is his right to receive presents because he is sick.

10. Plan to spend some time each day with your child but what about his social life if he is all alone in his bed? Then, too, he has been interested in physical skills. How can he be quiet?

Fried Egg Sandwiches Just Not on the Menu

By Shirley and Bob Sloane

Paris—The mystical regard the French have for the preparation, service and consumption of food has always fascinated our meat-and-potato race of Americans. Nowhere but in France could we have encountered experiences such as these:

The time we had to intercede on behalf of a stage-frightened young busboy who had spilled and lose interest if he isn't working.

A schedule will get both of you through the day. Friends and relatives as well as immediate family will understand and cooperate if they are shown the daily routine, and the child will feel responsible and independent if he knows and understands what is expected of him.

The headwaiter hurried over and there was a conference with much hand-waving and eye-rolling.

"Perhaps Madam would like scrambled eggs on toast?" he urged.

By this time Madam would have settled for raw eggs on an old menu.

When her peculiar American concoction finally arrived—in a silver casserole—it contained scrambled eggs on toast with a slice of toast on top to make it a sandwich. The chef had remained true to his principles.

Where else but in France would one be privileged to witness so remarkable a sight as the bearded proprietor of

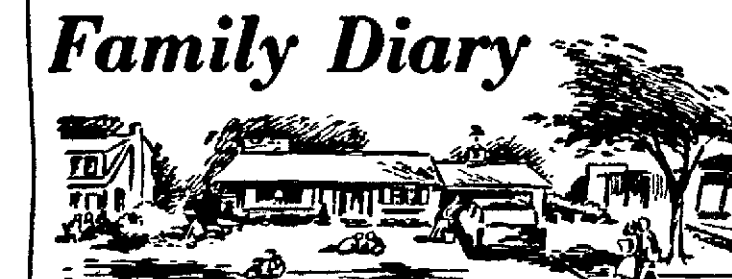

"Give me back the checks!" John exploded suddenly.

"But I've only started."

"Just give them back!" John roared and fairly snatched them out of my hand.

When he got the tax report into the mail two days later I breathed a sigh of relief. John worked far too long. I thought, "Here." I said, "is a check

Family Diary

The preparing of the income tax is a seasonal event at our house, accepted, but deplored like spring housecleaning, dentist visiting and crabgrass weeding. On income tax days—or evenings rather—John comes home early with a frown, a bulging briefcase and an adding machine borrowed from the office. On my part I keep the children quiet, the coffee pot full and submit with a good grace to John's prodding questions regarding my contributions to charity and last January. "Just look at how much tax I pay on lip-stick and purses."

When the going seems hard, I also contribute cheery, encouraging remarks. The other evening it was past midnight and John was still making little moans and thumbing through the instruction book checks.

John looked up questioning. "I mean if I worked and you had to make out the tax on my earnings too. Like Hilda." I explained. Hilda Smith is our neighbor and she is also secretary in her husband's law office.

Wife Helps
"Hilda Smith," John replied coolly, "is a first rate bookkeeper, and she makes out the complete income tax report for both herself and her husband. Henry told me so."

"Oh," I said, feeling deflated and a little resentful, too. It has always seemed to me that John makes too much of a thing out of this income tax business.

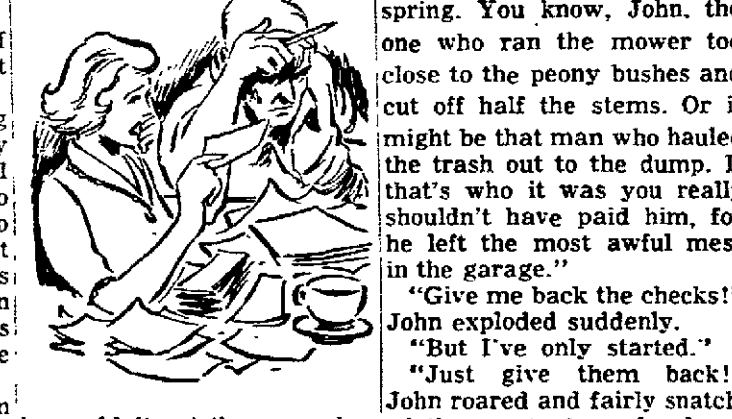

He was looking at me with a faint gleam in his eye. "It just might work. You might be able to do it." He was pushing papers toward me.

I fairly leapt from my chair.

a real mistake. I bought them last year at the end of the season thinking I was getting a bargain. And then his feet grew two whole sizes and "I remember," John said, "Please go on." There was strain in his voice. He had just isn't himself during income tax days.

"Here," I said, "is a check

Naming of Negro Cardinal Stirs Memory of Bishop Healy

BY TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Appointment of an African Negro to the Roman Catholic College of Cardinals last week brought to mind an all but forgotten figure in the American church — James Augustine Healy.

Healy, son of an immigrant Irish planter and a Georgia slave girl, was the first Negro to preside as bishop over a Catholic diocese in the United States.

200,000 Increase Bishop Healy's diocese was Portland, Maine, for the quarter century between 1875 and 1900 when all the Catholic Negroes in America could have been assembled in a good-sized hall.

Today, says the Catholic Mission Among Colored People and Indians, there are 615,984 Catholic Negroes in the country, an increase of more than 200,000 in the last decade.

There are 78 American Negroes actively engaged in the priesthood in 30 U.S. archdioceses and dioceses and another 13 serving in overseas posts, including the Most Rev. Joseph O. Bowers, bishop of Accra, Ghana.

Most American Negroes were still slaves a hundred odd years ago when James Healy and his brothers, Sherwood and Patrick, were ordained to the priesthood. There were seven other children in the family.

When Father Healy was consecrated bishop of Portland, the see then included Maine and New Hampshire. The Portland diocese of nearly a century ago was a heavily rural area with some 80,000 Catholics scattered through forests and farms, many virtually unreachable by decent roads.

During the first three months of episcopacy, Bishop Healy covered some 30,000 miles of his diocese, traveling by stage coach, buggy and, when all else failed, by walking.

A bishop automatically is accorded a certain social standing in the community. Bishop Healy never fully attained it. He even experienced difficulty obtaining religious women to keep house for him.

'Beloved Outcast' His biographer, the Rev. Albert S. Foley, S.J., summed up the bishop's career in the title of his book: "Bishop Healy: Beloved Outcast."

How did Bishop Healy respond to the snubs and slights? A little girl once admitted to him that she had called the bishop "as black as the devil."

"My child," said Bishop Healy, "don't say the bishop is as black as the devil. 'You can say he's as black as coal, or as black as the face of spades. 'But don't say he's as black as the devil.'"

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

AP Newsphoto

"What Is Faith?" asked a friend during a recent conversation.

I decided to learn what great men, who lived faith or expressed its power, had to say about the subject: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen," wrote St. Paul.

"A mighty fortress is our God, A bulwark never failing," penned Martin Luther.

Bach inscribed his scores of sacred music at the beginning with J.J. (Jesus, help) and at the end with S.D.G. (to God alone the glory). Michelangelo wrote, "I live and love in God's peculiar light." Shakespeare wrote, "There are no tricks in plain and simple faith."

W. E. Channing penned, "Faith is love taking the form of aspiration."

Tolstoy wrote, "Faith is the force of life."

Taipei, Formosa — (U.S. —) The national assembly Friday cleared the way for Chiang Kai-shek's election to a third 6-year term as president of Nationalist China.

In an amendment to temporary provisions which were appended to the constitution in 1948, the assembly froze operation of an article limiting a president and vice president to two terms. The article will remain in abeyance until the Nationalist regime regains control of the Chinese mainland.

Of the 1,200 delegates present at the meeting, 1,189 voted for the change and 11 abstained.

The ruling Kuomintang party will nominate Chiang and vice president Chen Cheng at a meeting Sunday. The national assembly will meet again March 21 to elect a president and March 23 to name the vice president.

Board Takes No Action on Bids For Junior High

School Commissioners Defer Action on Picking Alternates

Neenah — School board members Friday spent two hours reviewing the bids opened Thursday afternoon for the new junior high school and then adjourned until 4 p. m. Tuesday.

No recommendations for awarding of contracts were made at Friday's session because selection of various alternates will make a difference in the net low bidder for some of the projects.

Meanwhile, the school board plans to contact city officials to see if certain tasks, which the city might be able to do with its own crews, could be done more economically than by the bidding contractor.

Until this is learned by the board, the school commissioners felt they could make no decision on awarding the contracts.

Pleased With Bids
Fred Kramer of the Perkins and Will architectural firm said he was very pleased with the bids which were under the estimate. Many of the alternates normally are made part of the base bid but in this case were designated as alternates to achieve an economical construction as possible coincident with good maintenance.

As examples he cited asphalt tile was taken as the base bid with vinyl asbestos as the alternate. Vinyl asbestos is easier to maintain and will wear much longer than asphalt tile. Whereas normally vinyl asbestos tile runs 20 cents more per square foot than asphalt, in these bids it is only about 11 cents per square foot higher.

Steel doors and window frames were included for the base bids and aluminum doors and window frames were the alternates. Maintenance of the aluminum is far less than the steel since it does not have to be painted.

Porcelain Enamel Facias
Kramer also thought that having porcelain enamel facias, included as an alternate, would be better than the base bid copper and redwood facias since here also would be a great reduction in maintenance costs. The need for repainting would not be prevalent with the porcelain enamel.

Another of the alternates was ceramic tile base instead of a rubber base along the corridor walls. Maintenance and replacement of the tile still living at home as well as $20 weekly support, attorney's fees, household furniture and an automobile.

Winneconne Woman Granted Divorce on Grounds of Cruelty
Menasha — On grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, Mrs. Murna Amundson, 47, Winneconne, Wednesday was granted a divorce from Birger A. Amundson, 54, Oshkosh.

Menasha School Survey

Terms Special Education 'Second To Few'; Libraries 'Limited'

Menasha — Special services in Menasha schools require varying degrees of improvement, according to the Northwestern university curriculum survey team.

Special education — speech therapy, blind, partially sighted, deaf and hard-of-hearing

This is the seventh in a series of articles on the evaluation of Menasha public schools by Northwestern university's education department. Three copies of the study report are available at Elisha D. Smith public library.

instruction, physically handicapped, educable and trainable mentally handicapped programs — was "second to few."

Miss Helen Harrington, who analyzed the Menasha special education offerings, commented they "could only have developed through outstanding leadership and support on the part of both the administration and the board of education, and through arduous work on the part of the teachers working in this program."

Since the whole program was judged very good, no major recommendations were made.

Library Service
Library service in elementary and junior high schools, however, was termed generally unsatisfactory because of limited facilities and resources.

In order to strengthen the library service, the evaluation team suggested employing one full time elementary librarian, who would oversee "stronger central library collections (which are) based on pooling of the present classroom libraries plus new purchases." More space in all schools should be provided, the team added.

One library clerical assistant, to work one day a week in each elementary school and the junior high school, should assist the grades' librarian, the group further recommended.

At the junior high, one teacher should be able to devote at least half-time to "bring the library to a suitable level" in the next three years. And in the next five years, the school system should increase the number of available books to 10 per pupil, the survey report added.

Teaching Aids
During this year, the Northwestern survey team urged an in-service program to train or refresh teachers in use of audio-visual teaching equipment, and an elementary principal or head teacher should be in charge of all teaching aids. Planned replacement of equipment to maintain present levels and some additions have been recommended.

Guidance
Guidance offerings are not adequately financed, the study team believes, but Menasha receives "a great deal of service in view of the minimum cost of its program."

For improvement, the surveyors advocate permitting the guidance director to give full time to the work, which will include setting up a program to continue from kindergarten through grade 12. Some clerical help and other assistance from teachers also may pay, the group felt.

A school psychologist and visiting counselor, to work through all grades, might be employed.

In summing up the guidance program, the survey team said provisions for gifted children are unsatisfactory but improving and for slow-maturing and socially maladjusted children unsatisfactory and in need of special attention. The overall guidance program is rated satisfactory but in need of study.

In the next two years, a committee of staff members might study and plan changes which will strengthen the

Zephyrs Edge Aquinas in State Meet Opener, 60-59

Trail Through Most of Contest; Rally in Last 4 Minutes; Clutch Free Throws by Koerner Ice Win

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY

Milwaukee—It took the St. Mary Zephyrs almost 3 1/2 quarters to unwind here Friday afternoon but they did just in time to escape with a 60-59 victory over La Crosse Aquinas in the first game of the state Catholic high school basketball tournament.

And it took some clutch free throwing in the last minute to pull out the victory after the locals had trailed from margins of 2 to 7 points until midway in the final frame.

Schreiner to 7 points until midway in the final frame.

Having managed a tie with 4:35 left, St. Mary put on a great exhibition of pressure play to emerge with its second 1-point win of the year.

With the score tied 45-45, La Crosse went ahead by four points but the Zephyrs battled back for a 49-48 deadlock with a little better than two minutes left to play.

Zephyrs Take Lead La Crosse took the lead on Dave Gagermeier's basket but a free throw by Bill Becker and basket by Dean Schreiner, after Becker missed his second throw, gave the Men-

St. Mary Zephyrs to Clash With Rapids' Assumption at Meet

Milwaukee — St. Mary's High school cagers will clash with Wisconsin Rapids Assumption for the second time this year when they meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the Milwaukee Auditorium in the second round game of the Wisconsin Catholic Interscholastic Athletic association state cage tournament.

In their second game of the year the Zephyrs topped the Royals 64-52 at the Menasha High school gym. The Zephyrs had their troubles with Jim Jacuski, a big sophomore center who scored 19 points, and Pat Daly, a junior guard who hit 20.

The Royals topped Marinette Central Catholic 55-48 in the state meet first round game Friday. Had Marinette won, the Zephyrs would have met them for the fourth time this year. The Zephyrs won all three of their meetings.

ashans a 52-51 advantage, the first time they were on top all afternoon.

La Crosse's Dennis Tierney again gave his team the lead with two straight free throws. The teams traded the leads three times until, with La Crosse ahead 57-56 and with 57 seconds left to play, Schreiner dropped in two charity tosses to put the Blue and White ahead for good.

But the victory wasn't theirs yet for La Crosse had several shots before Jim Koerner came off with the rebound. The winners went into the "deep freeze" act and Gagermeier fouled Koerner.

Koerner Tallies The Menasha junior, with 20 seconds to play, draped two charities through the nets for 60-57. La Crosse romped down the floor and Gagermeier connected for a 1-point difference. St. Mary, however, made sure not to foul him.

Aquinas put on a press and St. Mary was about at mid-court when the final horn sounded and joy reigned supreme.

The winners had gone through the experience of two tournaments and other contests against rugged foes during the course of the season but they were tougher than possibly any other time.

They didn't rebound well in the first three periods and another balanced scoring attack. Schreiner led the way with 12 points, Laemmrich hit 11, Vanderhyden nine and Herlache and Koerner seven each.

Gagermeier Hits 31

St. Mary ran into one of the better players in the state in Gagermeier, a clever 5-9 guard. He wound up with 31 points on 11 baskets and nine free throws and during one stretch in the last half of the third period and first part of fourth made 6 for 6 from the floor. Tierney was next with 11 markers.

The verdict actually was decided on the free throw line. Both teams made 20 field goals but St. Mary connected on 20 of 26 charities compared to 19 for 29 for La Crosse.

From the floor, La Crosse had a nifty 465 on 20 for 43. St. Mary had .339 on 20 of 59.

Bright Colored Cloth Scraps Used for Artistic Project

BY CAPPY DICK

Want some fun? Try your hand at making pictures with cloth patches (Figure 1). You'll be surprised at the results. All you need are some scraps of bright-colored cloth, a sheet of drawing paper and some paste. If you have no cloth patches, scraps of gift wrapping paper or wallpaper may be used, if the colors are bright.

On the drawing paper, outline in pencil the picture you want to make. Good ideas will be found in your story books. When you have selected one, trace it. The simpler the picture, the easier it will be to reproduce with patches. A landscape (Figure 3) is a good choice for your first experiment.

After the picture has been drawn, start cutting it apart. The various parts will be patterns for cutting the pieces of cloth.

Cut the small objects first. For example, in making the landscape shown in Figure 3, the first part cut from the pencil drawing was the chimney. Then cut out the roof; next, the windows; then the door; then the front wall of the house.

The trees directly in back of the house were cut out next, then the cloud behind the trees. The path was next, then the hill and the sky were cut apart. The sky piece was discarded.

A piece of blue construction paper was selected as the foundation for the picture because any exposed part of it would represent the sky. One by one, the parts cut from the paper were used as patterns to cut identical pieces from cloth of various bright colors. When all were cut, the pasting began (Figure 2).

The first parts to paste are those that make up the background--the cloud then the trees, the hill, the path, the roof, the chimney, the front of the house and finally the path. The flowers in the foreground are cut from cloth and pasted in place on the hill.

Scenes of the Orient

Japanese Shrines, Gay Resort, Theater Described by Traveler

BY JEAN WILEY THICKENS

Kyoto, Japan—Here I sit in my beautiful room in Kyoto, 10,000 miles from home, listening to the Far-East radio program being broadcast from Tokyo to our armed services overseas.

First we heard a program from New York, then another from Dallas, Texas, with the third coming from Chicago. Then the news came on, including information that several leftist unions here in Japan are planning meetings and riots protesting the recently concluded treaty signed in Washington by President Eisenhower and Premier Kishi of Japan.

There are to be two or three of these carefully planned uprisings which one hopes will have no effect. Listening to this broadcast by our army services station in a familiar mid-western accent brings us very near to home in spirit and thought.

After four days in Tokyo, a city of more than 8 million, we left it for a few days to visit first Atami, the Atlantic City of Japan. There is a beautiful beach and a "boardwalk" lined with fine hotels, shops, restaurants and small gambling houses.

This delightful resort is set in a background of mountains. Often we saw ski trains arriving and departing for the resorts in these mountains, for the Japanese are very enthusiastic skiers.

Former Capital

Kyoto is Japan's fourth largest city with a population over a million and a quarter. It is the cultural center of Japan and was the nation's capital from 784 until 1868. In the latter year, the famous Emperor Meiji, who ruled Japan for 46 years, transferred the capital to Tokyo.

Kyoto is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. It abounds in magnificent temples, including the Golden Temple whose sides above the second floor are covered with solid gold leaf. Another, the Temple of the Two Thousand Gates, is a spectacular sight. Huge red wooden Torii gates always indicate a temple is nearby. This particular building is blessed with 2,000 gates, each one of which has been donated to the temple in gratitude for some special blessing realized by the donor, whose name is carved on the gate.

Still another of these temples or Shinto shrines has an avenue of several thousand bronze lanterns, some as old as 600 or 800 years. Twice a year these lanterns are lighted, which must be an impressive sight.

Fortune Box

In front of each shrine is a large iron or wooden box, the size of a large trunk, in which worshippers drop coins. After the coin is dropped into the large box, a smaller oblong metal box with holes in it may be requested of an attendant. One shakes the small box and out comes a stick with a number on one end.

The stick is exchanged for a slip of paper with a fortune written in Japanese on it. If the fortune is not to the liking of the person, he may hang the slip of paper on one of the shrubs in the garden.

The Japanese believe that if the wind blows the paper away, they will not experience the misfortune foretold upon it. The shrubs are covered with these slips of paper which the wind did not blow away.

Although it is hard to believe, the Japanese are very emotional and romantic. We were told by our guide that marriages are arranged by parents and when the marriage does not turn out to be a happy one, one or the other, or sometimes both partners take their lives. This helps explain why Japan has the highest suicide rate in the world.

On the other hand, one seldom hears of juvenile delinquency, perhaps because ancestor worship is one of the three main tenets of Shinto philosophy. Children honor and respect their parents and grandparents to an astonishing degree.

Also, most Japanese are very hard workers and if one is kept busy, he or she has little time to get into trouble. All Japanese have small shrines in their homes. Beside each religious shrine are photographs and mementos of dead members of the family to whom they do honor as they kneel at the shrine.

Last night we attended a play at one of Japan's most beautiful and largest theaters. We watched the Kabuki players put on a most exciting murder mystery. Needless to say, it would have been a lot more exciting if we could understand Japanese, but each person was given a small booklet that explained the plot so that it wasn't too difficult to tell what was happening.

Kabuki Players Men

The Kabuki players are all men, though some of them play women's parts most convincingly. These even assume a falsetto voice and walk with tiny, running steps characteristic of Japanese women.

The stage is enormous. Very few stage settings are necessary, as Japanese use almost no furniture in their homes. The accompanying music is weird and really unpleasant to the ear of a Westerner. No doubt our sounds equally strange to them.

These plays begin at 11 a. m. and continue uninterrupted until 10 p. m. Those who sit through the entire show bring their lunch boxes and eat right in their seats. The play is repeated several times a day. We remained only two hours and then went to the next excitement offered the tour group.

Tomorrow at midnight, after 10 days in this charming and beautiful country, we fly to Formosa.

J. C. Penney Plans New Neenah Store

27,000-Square Foot Building to Open in Shopping Center

Plans for construction of a new J. C. Penney Company department store in the Neenah Shopping Center were announced today by Fred T. Eustice, manager of the Appleton Penney store.

The new 1-story building will have about 27,000 square feet of floorspace, including a ground floor measuring 140 by 180 feet and a patio shop measuring 16 by 100 feet featuring barbecues, outdoor furniture and gardening equipment.

The landlord is the Great Lakes Construction company, Milwaukee.

Penney's opened in Appleton in 1922.

Faith in Future
In announcing plans for construction, Eustice said, "We are very happy about this new store. It is evidence of our continued faith in the future of this section and of Wisconsin generally."

Color will be engineered to play a functional as well as a decorative role in each department. Basic colors will separate lines of merchandise into well-defined areas. Fixtures in the men's department will be brown and coral; women's and children's department, red, pink and flame; sportswear, green, olive and mustard; and home furnishings and housewares, brown and aqua. Backgrounds will blend with fixture colors.

There will be wide traffic aisles, carpeted apparel departments and fluorescent lighting. Foundations are being placed at the shopping center now and it is anticipated stores will be ready in time for the 1960 Christmas season.

St. Mary Again Enters Valley Baseball Wheel

Menasha—St. Mary again will be one of the four teams comprising the Fox River Valley Baseball league this spring. Other entries are Manitowoc, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh of the regular conference.

These four teams, which got together last year after the two Sheboygan schools dropped baseball leaving only three conference members still with the sport, will begin play April 9 with St. Mary at Fond du Lac and Manitowoc at Oshkosh.

The season will close May 16 with Oshkosh at Fond du Lac and Manitowoc at St. Mary. Home and home double-headers will be played on Saturdays for a total of 12 games.

'Free Throws Paid Off,' Coach Observes to Zephyrs After Game

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Milwaukee — "Free throws paid off," Coach Ralph McClone told his St. Mary Zephyrs after they emerged with a 60-59 win over La Crosse Aquinas in their Catholic State tournament debut. He was referring to nine successes in 10 attempts in the last quarter and 4 for 4, two each by Dean Schreiner and Jim Koerner within the last minute.

The veteran Zephyr coach said he liked the way the boys fought back, adding that this was one of their worst games of the year. Both coach and players alike had heaps of praise for Dave Gagermeier, clever Aquinas guard, who pumped in 31 points.

The Menashans collected 20 field goals but one in the second quarter wasn't even attempted. St. Mary missed a shot and while battling for the rebound the ball bounced off Bob Rueckl's arm up into the hoop.

The auditorium, which seats about 5,000 persons, was only about a quarter-filled when the St. Mary game started and when it was over, about one-half of those spectators departed. About half of the crowd represented St. Mary followers and most of the rest were from Milwaukee Notre Dame which played Eau Claire Regis in the second game. Aquinas had few rooters and no cheerleaders.

What was the key play in the St. Mary win? Many of the observers felt it occurred with a little better than two minutes left to play when La Crosse's Dan Shannon missed two free throws with his team leading by a point. It would have given the Blugolds a 3-point edge and possibly their second win.

Among the former Twin Cities in the crowd were Clem Massey, former Menasha High school coach, whose Don Bosco jayvee team had a 14-7 record in his first year of coaching; Jim Kersten, who just finished a great season at Marquette; Tom Collins, former Twin City sports-caster; and the Rev. Richard Shafer, the former St. Mary High school athletic director.

Also on hand looking over the field were John Erickson, University of Wisconsin basketball coach, Derald Teteak, assistant football coach, and Ed Hickey and Jim Smith, Marquette cage coaches.

Officials for the St. Mary Aquinas game were Gene Berce and Orlando Palesse, both former Marquette stars. Joe Rahn of Oshkosh is the only Fox Valley area official in the meet. Others are Ed Andrews, Milwaukee; Jim Petersen points but his margin has dipped to six points. Thekla Zelinski posted a 203 game in the Monday afternoon Catholic Women's league at Mid-Town. Twin City Bowling leads by 71 games with a 54-15 mark.

William Fellner bangel a 230 game and 625 series in the weekend advanced Auto County league at Mid-Town. Bill Paris rolled 225-555 and Ed Meyer had a 533 trio.

Barnhill, Kenosha; Tom Flood, La Crosse; Rollie Krahn, Racine; and Steve Slattery, Verona.

Smith Notches Leading Trio

Betty Clow Posts 528 Threesome in Women's Circuit

Neenah — Melvin Smith collected a 233 game and 556 series to pace the Winchester-Clayton Bowling league Thursday night at Muench's Recreation alleys.

Brecklin's Viking has increased its lead to 71 game with a 481-234 record. John Sheehy bowled a 55 series and Gordon Meyer had 550 in the Kimberly - Clark Main Office wheel Thursday night at Muench's. Woodlands holds a 31 game first place advantage with a 434-281 slate.

Betty Clow of the runnerup E and R team topped a 210 game and 528 set to sweep honors in the Thursday Afternoon ladies wheel. Beverly Frakes collected a 198 loner. Twin City Bottling leads by 31 games with a 471-181 record.

and leg injuries, was probably the best customer.

The clock here leaves much to be desired. It has 20-minute halves and during the first and third quarters, the time remaining has to be announced from the scoring table. The horn is weak and a gun is used to signal the end of the quarters.

St. Mary used 10 of the 12 players on its roster with Norm Brown and Paul Meier the only two failing to see action. Mike Herliche, senior forward, was game captain.

Three of last year's all state choices are back in action. They are "Chuck" Paulsen and "Chuck" Wood of Racine St. Catherine and Bob Pecotte of Marinette Central Catholic.

St. Catherine's Tom Schilke, at 6 feet, 8 inches, is the tallest player in the tournament, while John Krupski of Notre Dame and Art Fischer of Eau Claire Regis are the smallest at 5 feet, 6 inches.

According to tournament statistics, St. Mary had an 11-8 offensive rebound edge but were outbounded 17-16 defensively. Jim Koerner led the winners with six. Gary Koebel of La Crosse topped his team with 11. Both Jerry Laermrich and Pete Vanderhyden had three assists. Bob Rueckl had the best field goal percentage for St. Mary, making three of five. Mike Herliche made good on two of four, both in the last period. Gagermeier had 11 of 18 for La Crosse and Joe Mischuta canned 3 of 4.

Resch Jolts 643 Trio For Marathon Honors

Dorschner Tumbles 256 Loner; Kuchenbecker Collects 630 in South Side Men's Circuit

Neenah — Eddie Resch of the Office team powered a 643 series to pace the Marathon Men's Bowling league Thursday night at Lakeroad Lanes. Resch was above 200 in all of his games but yielded singleton honors to Ray Dorschner of Package Materials, who belted 256.

Dix collected a 232 game while Howard Wendt had 227 and Kempf and Yach each tallied 225.

Al Kuchenbecker of Collins Produce slammed a 630 series, including games of 234 and 225, to head the South Side Men's league Thursday night at Lakeroad.

Bill Paris rolled 225-555 and Ed Meyer had a 533 trio.

Roy's Lunch leads by 31 games with a 45-27 record. Pauline Gaertner of Arlyn Laffin's Service posted a 209 game and Clarice Kaczmarek of Stanislawski's had a 352 set in the Strikes and Spares Women's league hursday night at Lakeroad.

"Tek" Zelinski rolled 199, Edna Birling 197, Clarice Kaczmarek 194 and Janet Eake 190. Pauline Gaertner rolled a 519 trio.

Bob Rueckl (24) of Menasha St. Mary fights for the ball with Gary Koelbl, La Crosse Aquinas, during the state Catholic tournament opener in Milwaukee Friday. Guard Pete Vanderhyden attempts to help out his teammate in this second quarter action. St. Mary won, 60-59, to enter the semi-finals.

Burdette Plans to Continue Fishing

Lew Says Braves 'Highly Unfair' Not to Offer Him Raise in Pay

Bradenton, Fla.—(AP)—Hold-out Lew Burdette, the Milwaukee Braves' ace right hander, is fidgety but not so much that he plans to give up his fight for a raise.

Burdette, noted for his fidgety actions on the pitching mound, admitted Friday he would like to get started in spring training, but vowed he will continue fishing rather than sign for the same salary as in 1959.

"It's highly unfair to any pitcher not to get a raise after he wins 20 games," Burdette said at his home in nearby Sarasota. "There would be no incentive. That's particularly true of a pitcher in the salary class I'm in. If I were drawing say $75,000 a year, then I'd be getting paid for winning 20. But I'm not."

Burdette drew an estimated $40,000 last season when he posted a 21-15 record. He claimed he is not asking for "too much of a raise" and he doesn't think his demands are unreasonable.

Although only a few miles from the Braves' training camp, Burdette said it has been two weeks since he talked with General Manager John McHale.

"I did get a contract in the mails along with a nice little note telling me how lucky I was to get it," Lew said with a laugh. "That was a little silly since a 15-cent phone call from Bradenton to Sarasota is much quicker. It takes two days for a letter."

Asked about McHale's warning recently that the next move is up to Burdette and

Mickey Mantle Doesn't Expect to be Any More Popular With New York Fans

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(AP)—Mickey Mantle doesn't expect to be any more popular with New York fans even if he fulfills his ambition this year of hitting .350 and leading the American league in runs batted in.

The Yankee slugger made this surprising statement Friday after taking a $7,000 pay cut in signing for $65,000. The 28-year-old center field star flew into town from his Dallas home Thursday night and came to terms with General Manager George Weiss Friday morning after a 2-minute conference.

The popularity angle was injected by Weiss, who expressed the hope that Mantle has a big year in 1960 so that Mickey could, in addition to helping the team win the pennant, regain his popularity with the Yankee Stadium fans.

"I'd like him to be popular again," Weiss said. "I think the public is ready to come back to his side. I thought they the fans were for a while last year but he went bad and the boos got louder. It wouldn't take too much for the public to like him again."

Mantle didn't seem too concerned.

"I didn't know I was ever popular," he said. "I had a couple of pretty good years and it didn't help me much."

Not Overjoyed

Mickey didn't appear overjoyed at his signing, which was interpreted in some quarters as more of a capitulation. Told that Weiss had

Wildcats Score Breathtaking 71-68 Triumph Over Oshkosh; Ships Dump Oostburg, 49-37

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Neenah — The only way Green Bay West's Wildcats can qualify tonight for a second successive state basketball tournament berth is to shatter two formidable jinxes.

GBW, winner of a breathtaking 71-68 decision over Oshkosh Friday night, plays Manitowoc — a 49-37 victor over Oostburg — for the Neenah sectional championship.

Not only will the Wildcats be confronted with the "you don't beat the same team thrice in one season" hex

John Thomas Again Breaks World Mark

Chicago Crowd of 10,000 Roars at New Record

Chicago —(AP)—"I have no set goal, I'm going to keep on jumping and winning," says world record breaker John Thomas.

Thomas, a 19-year-old Boston university sophomore, was the main attraction in the Chicago relays and he didn't disappoint anyone in the capacity crowd of 10,000 in the International amphitheater Friday night.

He set a new mark of 7-7 1/2 which he said he hopes to better tonight when he competes in the Greater Boston Collegiate meet at Medford, Mass.

"I felt real good," said Thomas. "I must have, otherwise I don't think I would have done it. Sure, I've tried it before but never made it. Maybe I did better in practice, I don't know."

Besieged by autograph hunters, Thomas pulled away and said: "Man, I just want to rest right now."

Thomas, who severely injured his left foot a year ago in a moving elevator and had to

Griffith Cops Split Decision

Will Meet Moyer In Rematch on Eve of Derby Day

New York —(AP)—Because manager Sid Flaherty likes to mix business with a little fun, Emile Griffith and Denny Moyer probably will have their return fight in Louisville on Derby day eve, May 6.

Griffith, 22-year-old New Yorker, won by split decision over Moyer, 20, of Portland, Ore., Friday night at Madison Square garden, in a close, lively battle that deserves an encore.

It was an important victory for Griffith, a pro only 21 months. It was his fourth straight win for a 17-1 record. Moyer, who had won four in a row, now has a 24-2 record.

Although he is ranked tenth and Moyer ninth in the welterweight division by the NBA, Griffith was a 0-5 favorite. The sleek Virgin islands native earned his margin in the first half of the crisp-punching battle as the baby-faced West coaster rallied in the closing stages. Each weighed 150.

There were no knockdowns but Denny came close in the seventh when he clipped Emile with a right to the jaw.

The two judges, Artie Adala and Lee Birnbaum, each had Griffith ahead, 54-1 in rounds. Referee Harry Kessler scored it 54-1 in favor of Moyer. The AP card had it even, five rounds apiece.

Waukesha Tops Rufus King Five, 82-61

Eight More Ranked Quints on Sidelines In Tournament Play

By The Associated Press

Powerful Waukesha, undefeated in 23 straight games, headed a list of 16 survivors today while eight more ranked teams moved to the sidelines by elimination in the opening round of sectional play of the Wisconsin high school basketball tournament.

Waukesha, the No. 2 team in WIAA Big 16 ratings at the end of regular season competition, meets Whitefish Bay tonight in a sectional windup for a berth in the state tournament next week in Madison.

Other survivors just one victory from championship play included Green Bay West and Sheboygan Central, the only 1959 tournament teams still in the running.

The major casualties in Friday night's sectionals were Rhinelander, Milwaukee Rufus King and Reedsburg, ranked fifth, seventh and eighth, respectively, in the Big 16, and Campbellsport, (No. 3), Cuba City (No. 7), East Troy (No. 9), Edgar (No. 11) and Oostburg (No. 12) in the Little 16.

Waukesha, which swept by 1959 state champion Milwaukee Lincoln last week, exploded for 31 points in the third period to overcome a 37-30 halftime disadvantage and defeat Rufus King, 82-61.

Unheralded Rice Lake pulled off a major upset by eliminating Rhinelander, 64-62, and will meet Glidden, 77-71 conqueror of Turtle Lake, in tonight's sectional final.

Sheboygan Central belted Reedsburg 67-59 and will face Watertown, which pulled a shocker by upsetting previously unbeaten Campbellsport, 64-52. Campbellsport had won 21 straight games.

Green Bay West edged past Oshkosh 71-68 to advance to the sectional finals at Neenah. Manitowoc defeated Oostburg 49-37 for the right to meet Green Bay West.

Monroe, ranked fourth in the Big 16, taught Cuba City a lesson while rolling to a 97-61 victory and will meet Racine Park, a 50-35 victory over Badger of Lake Geneva.

Elva-Strum defeated Edgar, 72-63, while Menomonie, fourteenth rated in the Big 16, eliminated Baldwin, 74-67, at Eau Claire.

Little Crivitz upended Stevens Point, 73-71, and will meet Wausau at Wisconsin Rapids. Wausau overpowered Amherst, 76-52.

Black River Falls and Gale-Etrick will square off in the sectional finale at La Crosse. Black River Falls swept past Plattville, 74-50, while Gale-Etrick whipped Bloomington, 67-45.

Surprising Oregon Meets Cal; Bearcats, Bucks Win Easily

Evansville '5' Again Small College Champs

By The Associated Press

The unheralded Oregon Webfoots from the Pacific Northwest were the surprise of the NCAA championship basketball tournament Friday night.

Beaten nine times during the regular season, Oregon was considered a setup for sixth-ranked Utah (25-2) champions of the Skyline conference. But almost before the Utes knew what was happening they were 11 points behind. They never caught up and were beaten, 85-54, in the Far West regional semifinals at Seattle.

The surprising Oregon boys face California, the defending champions, in the regional final tonight.

Cincinnati, California and Ohio State, rated 1-2-3 in the final Associated Press poll of the season, had little trouble joining Oregon in the national quarterfinals. However, fifth-ranked West Virginia, 11 k e Utah, but the dust. The Southern Conference champs were tripped by New York University 82-81 in overtime Georgia Tech, Duke and Kansas also reached the round of eight. This is the setup for to-

Great Cast Competes In Milwaukee Meet

Bragg, O'Brien, Jones, Truex Threaten Records

BY DAVE O'HARA

Milwaukee —(AP)—The indoor track circuit swings into Milwaukee tonight with a glittering cast headed by many of the nation's top hopes for gold medals in the Olympics this summer.

With such standouts as Don Bragg, Parry O'Brien, Hayes Jones, Max Truex and Phil Coleman on hand, meet records appear in danger for the 1-night winter board "season" at the Arena.

The classy field includes virtually every big winner of the year. The major exception is John Thomas of Boston university, who shattered the world high jump record with a leap of 7-2 1/2 in Chicago Friday night.

Bragg, the world record-holder in the pole vault at 15-9 1/2 who soars just enough to win, may pick up added incentive in his specialty because of a runway stretched to 140 feet. His competition includes Bob Gutowski and three others who have cleared 15 feet.

Milwaukee Debut

O'Brien will make his Milwaukee debut as the 16-pound shot put is introduced for the first time in the local meet.

O'Brien, Olympic champion in 1952 and '56, holds the outdoor record of 63-2, and the indoor mark of 62-1 1/2.

Jones, a speedster from Eastern Michigan university, will renew his personal duel with 1956 Olympic gold medal winner Lee Calhoun in the 50-yard high hurdles. Jones go, Oshkosh called time. The Indians set up sharpshooting Rot Kaat, but his shot was blocked and a jump ball was whistled with 7 seconds left. A re-jump came a second later. West's Hendrickson jumped prematurely, and Oshkosh was awarded the ball out of bounds with 4 seconds left and still one more chance to pull it out.

Wires Crossed

Don Lehman passed it in, but the Indians seemingly got their wires crossed on the out-of-bounds maneuver, for none of his mates was within 10 feet of the ball. Hennig grabbed it instead to insure his team's dearly-earned triumph.

Fouled at the final horn, Hennig sank two free throws to swell the victory margin. West owed its success almost exclusively to a mighty 2-man offensive show. Guard Clyde Trudeau and Hendrickson combined for 25 of the Wildcats' 31 baskets and for 54 of the 71 points.

Trudeau, who had averaged 15.6 points for the three previous tournament games, sizzled for 29 points—all but three of them coming on exceptional, 13-for-28 outside shooting.

Hendrickson, who had averaged 18.3 in the regional, poured in 12 of 18 shots and finished with 25 points.

Kaat, hitting 6-for-10 from the floor and 6-for-8 from the free throw line, scored 18 points to pace the Indians. England, with 6-for-17 floor shooting, garnered 18 points.

50 Per Cent Clip

Oshkosh, working carefully for its shots, fired away at a 50 per cent clip (25 for 50) in a losing cause. West dropped in 31 of 68 shots for a 45.6 rate.

The battle royal was tied 14 times, and the lead changed hands on seven occasions.

Oshkosh took the lead, 21-20, in the last seven seconds of a see-saw first quarter (on England's 3-point play) and retained it for the next 11 minutes, 25 seconds of playing time. Three times, the Indians led by as much as six points (32-26, 34-28 and 36-30), and their halftime advantage was 38-34.

West finally caught the fast-paced Indians, 41-41, with 4:42 left in the third quarter. But, Oshkosh again took the upper hand, leading by as much as five (50-45 and 52-47) in the waning moments of the third stanza. Trudeau's 20-footer brought West within one point (54-53) at the pause before the final quarter.

The deadly firing of Oshkosh's Peroutky and West's Hendrickson and Trudeau in the first 1½ minutes of the fourth quarter brought the score to a 59 standoff. Kaat hit from the side, but Hendrickson retaliated with a hook shot.

Hits from Corner

Trudeau meshed a pair of free throws—with 5.09 left—giving West its first lead since the first quarter. The same marksman canned a side jumper to push West's advantage to 65-61. It proved short-lived, for England and Peroutky hit on successive drive-ins to re-knot the count at 65 with 3:28 remaining.

Trudeau's corner goal matched Lehman's two free throws to set the stage for the final 51 seconds that started so encouragingly for Oshkosh with Peroutky's free throw. Though Oostburg was held 32 points below its 22-game average of 69 tallies, the only district-sized school in the tourney was not overawed by its FRVC opponent. The Flying Dutchmen battled all the way and forced the Manitowoc regulars to play the distance.

Paul Meany's free throw with the second quarter 36 seconds old gave the Ships a 9-8 lead, and they were never again headed. Though they pulled ahead by margins of 7-10 points, the Shipbuilders' lead became precarious (29-25 and 31-27) near the end of the third quarter.

Then, in a 3-minute spurt, encompassing parts of two quarters, the Shipbuilders outscored their outgunned foes, 12-2, and removed all doubt. Art Neiltz started the flurry with a pair of goals. Meany hit his first basket of the game and Paul Buege sank a 20-footer. Gary Wynveen interrupted the Manty attack with a lay-up, but Meany's hook shot and two Ron Schuh gift shots increased the Ship margin to 43-29 with 6:00 left.

The all-conference Meany, who had averaged about 26 points for tournament play and 22 for the entire season, slumped to his season's low of seven points. He cashed in on only two of 13 floor attempts.

Zipperer on Target

Fortunately for the Ships, Al Zipperer was on target for the first three periods, sinking six of his first 11 shots—including a 45-footer just before half time. Zipperer missed his final seven shots but finished with 14 points. Neiltz added 12.

Oostburg's Dick Zuengler, workhorse in all phases of the game, counted the game's high of 23 points. He threw in eight of 24 field shots.

Oostburg sank only 14 of 62 floor attempts, while Manty hit 19 of 63 in a ragged offensive display.

Tonight, Manty will be in the Neenah sectional finals for the third straight year. The Ships beat Hortonville in 1958 but lost to Kimberly last year.

West is in the Neenah finals for the first time since '56 when it lost to Appleton. Last year, West won the Stevens Point sectional.

The Braves' holdout list was trimmed to three Friday with the signing of relief specialist Don Mc Mahon. Others still out of the fold are outfielder Wes Covington and second baseman Bobby Avila.

Manager Charlie Dressen, a stern taskmaster making his debut as Braves pilot, had some bad news for Covington, who had a poor season last year before being injured in August.

"Maybe he's heard about this Spring training," Dressen said. "He wants to skip it. It's too tough. But I'm going to make him go through it anyway after he reports."

FRVC Tennis Meet to be Staged Here

The Fox River Valley conference tennis meet will be held May 21 on the Appleton High school courts.

At their meeting in Manitowoc earlier this week, conference officials deferred picking a site for the 1960 golf meet. The conference track meet had previously been awarded to Sheboygan North.

Starting next fall, fees of football and basketball officials working FRVC games will be raised to $17.50 (and 7 cents per mile travel allowance) per game from $15 (and 6 cents a mile).

After hearing a committee report on the football goal post issue, FRVC officials voted to leave the posts on the goal-line, as they have been. However, on any college fields that are used, the try for point must come from the 2-yard line instead of two yards from the back line of the end zone.

The conference also made basketball championship awards to Appleton, Green Bay West and Sheboygan Central and officially noted that starting in 1960-61 Central will be known as Sheboygan South.

The Cleveland Indians are playing the Orioles. Johnny Temple is on third and Vic Power on second with one out. Rocky Colavito hits Milt Pappas' first pitch to Willie Miranda and the shortstop throws home to head off Temple. The quick-thinking Indians' second baseman, seeing he has no chance to score, heads back for third but by this time that base already is occupied by the fleet-footed Power. Oriole catcher Gus Triandos whips the ball to third baseman Brooks Robinson, who seeing both Power and Temple on the bag, tags Temple and tosses the ball to Pappas on the mound. The

Owners Vote Unanimously to Submit Role of 11 Expendables

Los Angeles — Thirty-team today — if they are six veterans of the National Football league, three from each of the 12 old clubs, are headed for the new Dallas

It's up to the Dallas Rangers to sign them. Their identities will not be known until tonight. But they can be assured of a warm welcome in Dallas if they choose to continue their careers in Texas.

Acting swiftly, NFL owners voted unanimously to submit a roll of 11 "expendables" from each team, Dallas to select three at random from each. Dallas can pick three backs, three ends of what they want, from each team if the players by positions are made available.

Today the coaches submitted a list of their available talent to the Dallas club. Players themselves were to be contacted during the day by their 1959 employers. If none want to go to Dallas, they go on the Texas team's reserve list or head for the new and rival American Football league, or to Canada.

Players who were on the injury-reserve list in 1959 are not involved in the formula.

Manager Casey Stengel, obviously relieved to see Mantle in uniform, said "There are times when Mantle has a good day that you don't need any other players. When he's hot, the Yankees are not a cold club."

Last year Mantle batted only .285, hit 31 home runs and drove in only 75 runs. The Yankees finished third.

undergo plastic surgery and skin grafts, now has cleared 7 feet or better in his last 11 meets. In the national AAU meet last month, he broke all previous records with a 7-2 effort.

Thomas played it cool Friday night. He loosened up by jumping six feet a couple of times and then sat out. He tried 6-4 and failed and then succeeded. By the time the bar reached 6-9½ he ran out of competition.

Thomas then asked to have the bar raised to 7 feet ¼ inch. A hush came over the crowd. Thomas went over but his hand clipped the bar and it fell.

His second attempt was good. Thomas asked to have the bar placed at 7-2½. Again he missed on his first attempt. After a short rest, Thomas loped towards the bar and with a determined effort cleared it.

Big Roar

The crowd let out a thunderous roar, then went silent when the announcer said the height had to be remeasured. Another roar went up when the announcement came that Thomas had cleared 7-2½.

Except for Thomas' leap and Hayes Jones' record-tying victory in the 60-yard high hurdles, the meet was dull. Jones, the Eastern Michigan star who is undefeated this season, tied the world mark of :07.7.

The pole vault also was a letdown. Don Bragg, former Villanova star representing the U S Army, won with a leap of 15-4½. Bob Gutowski, a Marine lieutenant who holds the world outdoor mark of 15-9½, finished second, clearing 15-4. Bragg holds the world indoor mark of 15-9½.

Bobcats Will Honor Fan Who Breaks Club Attendance Record

Green Bay — The Green Bay Bobcats will honor fan No. 80,331 at tonight's Central Hockey league playoff game here against the Marquette Sentinels, according to General Manager Donald M. Clark.

He (or she) will set a new attendance record for the CHL champions, who drew 80,330 to 30 home dates in their charter 1959-60 season, when they were members of the Mid America league.

The Bobcats have attracted 79,728 in 29 appearances at the Brown County arena to date, which means that the 553rd fan to pass through the gates Saturday night will break the present record. No. 553 will be introduced between periods and presented with a season ticket for 1960-61, Clark said.

night's regional finals which will determine the four teams to go to the national semifinals and final at San Francisco next Friday and Saturday.

Eastern at Charlotte, N. C.: NYU vs. Duke.

Midwest at Louisville, Ky.: Georgia Tech vs. Ohio State.

Midwest at Manhattan, Kan.: Kansas vs. Cincinnati.

Far West at Seattle: Oregon vs. California.

All - America Jerry West scored 34 points for West Virginia, but it wasn't enough to balk NYU. The Violets' Russ Cunningham popped in a jump shot with four seconds left in regulation time to tie the game 77-77. Then, with only eight seconds left in the extra period, Cunningham flipped in a free throw that sealed the doom of the Mountaineers.

Duke, which surprised by winning the Atlantic Coast conference championship last week, lifted more eyebrows by nipping St. Josephs of Philadelphia, 58-56.

Ohio University nearly surprised Georgia Tech, but the SEC boys finished in front, 57-54.

Behind by 7 Ohio State, the Big Ten champion, was seven points behind Western Kentucky at halftime, then virtually blasted the Hilltoppers off the court at Louisville with a 61-point second half for a 98-79 victory.

Kansas trailed Texas at the half, too, but Wayne High-tower scored 22 points for the Wildcats in the second half and they whipped the Southwest Conference champs, 90-81.

It was a cakewalk for Cincinnati and All-America Oscar Robertson as they walloped DePaul, 99-59. Robertson bagged 29 points.

It was a breeze for California, too. The defending champs walloped Santa Clara, 69-49, and their famous defense was never sharper.

Glenn Moore, 6-7 pivot man, sparked the Oregon upset. He held Utah's ace, 6-9 Billy McGill to 6 points for the entire game. Moore was ably assisted by Chuck Rask who virtually took care of Utah's full court press all by himself. Rask finished with 18 points and Moore 19.

2nd Straight Evansville (Ind) College won the NCAA small college championship for the second straight year with a 90-60 romp over Chapman (Calif) in the tourney final at Evansville, Kentucky Wesleyan beat Cornell of Iowa, 86-76, for third place.

The Westminster Titans of New Wilmington, Pa. ended the 3-year reign of Tennessee A&I State as NAIA champions. They nipped the Southern team, 39-38, in the semifinals of the NAIA tourney at Kansas City. Southwest Texas beat William Jewell, 82-44, in the other semifinal and will meet Westminster for the title tonight.

Warriors Beat Syracuse in Semi-Finals

Philadelphia —(AP)— The talk in the Philadelphia Warriors' dressing room was not of the 40 points scored by Paul Arizin or the 35 by Wilt Chamberlain but of defense.

Coach Neil Johnston, who was hard to hear over the hubbub as the Warriors celebrated their 115-92 win over Syracuse Friday night in the first of the National Basketball association's semifinal Eastern playoff, virtually shouted, "Defense won it."

"When you hold a team like Syracuse under 100 points, it's quite a feat. They are quite an offensive team," said the coach.

He said he was particularly impressed with the job Woody Sauldsberry did on the veteran Dolph Schayes. The Syracuse ace scored only 17 points.

Syracuse Coach Paul Seymour predicted his club would win the second game Sunday at Syracuse in the best-of-3 series for the right to take on Boston in the Eastern final.

The Warriors led throughout, 33-26 at the end of the first period and 55-46 at the half.

Chamberlain Rewrites Record Book

New York —(AP)— Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors almost single-handedly rewrote the National Basketball association record book as he figured in eight of the 11 new individual marks.

Statistics released today by the NBA for the complete regular season listed Chamberlain's records as:

Total points, 2,707, highest average, 37.6; field goals attempted, 2,311; field goals scored, 1,065; free throws attempted, 991; games scoring 50 or more points in a season, 5; rebounds, 1,941; rebounds per game, 26.9, most minutes played, tied with Gene Shue, Detroit, 3,338.

Bob Cousy and Bill Russell of Boston and Elgin Baylor of Minneapolis also had a hand in the record smashing. Cousy created a new assists standard of 9.5 per game on 715 setups. Russell set an individual game record of 51 rebounds while Baylor 64 points smashed Joe Fulks' high of 63 for a single game.

St. Joseph Beats St. Mary, 22-19

The powerful St. Joseph of Appleton grade school basketball team ran its Catholic Boys conference record to 11-0 with a narrow 22-19 victory over arch-rival St. Mary of Appleton Thursday evening.

The losers used slow-down tactics and trailed, 2-0, after one quarter and 10-3 at the half.

"Rocky" Bleier scored nine and Joe Bowers eight to lead Ralph Hooymann's club to its nineteenth win in 20 starts, overall. Tim Garvey counted seven for St. Mary.

The St. Joseph "B's" defeated the St. Mary "B" squad, 27-14, with Paul Rechner's nine points leading the way.

231-637 Pace Business Loop

Kaukauna — Wilmer Runge slammed a 237 singleton and a 631 trio to pace the Businessmen's Bowling loop at the Bowling bar.

Van Daalwyk's won two games to hold first with a 52-23 mark. Other high scores were posted by Tom Eiting, 232; Dave Nagan, 601; Don Biesert, 590; Frank Effa, 592; Milton Teske, 583, and Jack Bodde, 559.

Hard to Understand Why Some Dictators are 'Bad,' Some 'Good'

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
New York — No end of trouble has come to the world because Franklin D. Roosevelt thought he could distinguish between a good and a bad dictator.

Stalin was, in Roosevelt's mind, a good dictator but Hitler was a bad one. Since then, at the 20th congress of the communist party of Soviet Russia, it was established that Stalin was a bad dictator and now we are doing business with Franco, another bad dictator, because we need to.

I have received a mimeographed letter from Norman Thomas along these same lines. He is all excited about the wickedness of Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, a bad dictator; he says nothing about the wickedness of Castro of Cuba. On the subject of Castro, I have received no mimeographed letter from Norman Thomas or the Institute of International Labor Research, Inc.

Had Norman Thomas denounced Castro as well as Trujillo, had he opposed left as well as right dictatorship, it might have been possible to support his stand. In this mimeographed letter, Thomas says:

A Sokolsky Rewrite
"American public opinion is shocked and revolted by the recent events in the Dominican Republic. The Trujillo dictatorship has unleashed a campaign of terror against the Dominican people which, according to reports reaching us, has assumed mass proportions. Thousands of innocent people have been thrown into prisons and their lives are in grave danger. If our western civilization and the ideals for which it stands is to survive we cannot accept in silence this brutal act of extermination carried out against our brother Dominicans."

Let me rewrite this material to read:
"American public opinion is shocked and revolted by the recent events in Cuba. The Castro dictatorship has unleashed a campaign of terror against the Cuban people which, according to reports reaching us, has assumed mass proportions. Thousands of innocent people have been thrown into prisons and their lives are in grave danger. If our western civilization and the ideals for which it stands is to survive we cannot accept in silence this brutal act of extermination carried out against our brother Cubans."

I could add more: Where Thomas says "and their lives are in grave danger," I can substitute and substantiate "and Castro shot opponents and conducted mass trials to justify a slaughter of the innocents."

Religion and Morality
Aside from being a Socialist, Norman Thomas is a Christian clergyman and his training has been within the moral law. How then does

He said he was particularly impressed with the job Woody Sauldsberry did on the veteran Dolph Schayes. The Syracuse ace scored only 17 points.

Syracuse Coach Paul Seymour predicted his club would win the second game Sunday at Syracuse in the best-of-3 series for the right to take on Boston in the Eastern final.

The Warriors led throughout, 33-26 at the end of the first period and 55-46 at the half.

Chamberlain almost single-handedly rewrote the National Basketball association record book as he figured in eight of the 11 new individual marks.

Statistics released today by the NBA for the complete regular season listed Chamberlain's records as:

Total points, 2,707, highest average, 37.6; field goals attempted, 2,311; field goals scored, 1,065; free throws attempted, 991; games scoring 50 or more points in a season, 5; rebounds, 1,941; rebounds per game, 26.9, most minutes played, tied with Gene Shue, Detroit, 3,338.

Bob Cousy and Bill Russell of Boston and Elgin Baylor of Minneapolis also had a hand in the record smashing. Cousy created a new assists standard of 9.5 per game on 715 setups. Russell set an individual game record of 51 rebounds while Baylor 64 points smashed Joe Fulks' high of 63 for a single game.

The powerful St. Joseph of Appleton grade school basketball team ran its Catholic Boys conference record to 11-0 with a narrow 22-19 victory over arch-rival St. Mary of Appleton Thursday evening.

The losers used slow-down tactics and trailed, 2-0, after one quarter and 10-3 at the half.

"Rocky" Bleier scored nine and Joe Bowers eight to lead Ralph Hooymann's club to its nineteenth win in 20 starts, overall. Tim Garvey counted seven for St. Mary.

The St. Joseph "B's" defeated the St. Mary "B" squad, 27-14, with Paul Rechner's nine points leading the way.

WERB Sets New Election at Mantin Brothers

A new election at Mantin Brothers, Clintonville, gravel operation, has been ordered for the Teamsters and Operating Engineers by the Wisconsin Employment Relations board.

The unions lost an election by 10 to 4 Dec. 21 and filed charges Dec. 24 that the company had unfairly influenced workers.

A hearing was held by the WERB Jan. 14 and the order for a new election issued covers employees at the plant as of Thursday. No date has been set for the election.

Track Clinic Slated For UW-M Sunday
Pole vaulter Bob Gutowski and runner Wes Santee are among the "name" stars who will participate in a track and field clinic in Baker field-house, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Sunday. Athletes from Fox Cities area schools have been invited.

The clinic, which also may include hurdler Josh Culbreath, shot putter Parry O'Brien and pole vaulter Don Bragg, will run from 1 to 4 p.m. It will be conducted along the lines used by the U.S. State department in good will clinics throughout the world.

Surprise Snowstorm Calls Off Tourney Play
Augusta, Ga. —(AP)— A surprise snowstorm forced officials to call off Friday's scheduled second round of the 21st Women's Titleholders Golf tournament.

Officials hoped improved weather conditions would permit play today. Chances appeared dim, however, that the inch-deep snow covering the Augusta Country club course would melt in time.

Shoplifter Caught
A 14-year-old boy was reprimanded and his parents notified after police were told by Woolworth store officials that he stole a lighter, pen, refill, paper and flashlight batteries at the 108 E. College avenue store Friday afternoon.

Hold Former City Official Charged With Embezzling From Brokerage Clients

Shawano —(AP)— Sherburn J. Dodge, 53, former mayor of Shawano, has been ordered held under $5,000 bond for a preliminary hearing March 18 on charges of embezzling about $89,000.

Municipal Judge Robert Fisher ordered the hearing Friday when Dodge was arraigned on a warrant covering 22 counts. The complaint accused Dodge of filing a false financial statement with the Wisconsin securities department and with 21 instances of converting funds of clients of his brokerage business to his own use.

Dodge's broker license was revoked last fall by the Federal Securities and Exchange commission.

The Wisconsin department of securities charged that Dodge filed a financial statement purporting to show his net worth at the end of 1958 as $93,000 when, in fact, he was insolvent. Other counts allege embezzlement of sums ranging from $100 to $20,919.

One of the complaints is that Dodge defrauded Shawano county Dist. Atty. Fred Eberlein of $9,618.

Big Business, Hospitals, Can Use Human Way

Doctor Describes Progressive Care Given Patients in Connecticut Unit

Hospitals can retain a human approach even though they have grown into one of the nation's largest industries.

A case in point was described by Dr. Howard J. Lockward of Manchester, Conn., in Journal of the American Medical Association.

A new program of "progressive patient care" at the 300-bed Manchester Memorial hospital allows the patient "to retain his individual dignity." The program was begun in 1957 when the hospital began to show signs of "growing pains," Dr. Lockward said.

Main Charge
"One of the main charges leveled at modern medicine is that we treat the disease instead of the patient," he said. "Progressive patient care has once again allowed us to go back to the patient as an entity and treat each person according to his medical needs."

Philosophically, the program is patient-oriented. The patient is the raison d'être of the hospital, therefore his total needs are considered.

"The doctor-patient relationship is the hub of patient care. All other services such as dietary, nursing, physiotherapy, and diagnostic procedures radiate from this center of activity as the spokes of a wheel," he added.

The degree of illness, or the phase of the disease, is used as the basis for the new program rather than economic status or type of disease.

There are four units under the plan: Special care unit for the seriously ill; intermediate care unit for those ill, but not seriously so; self-service unit for those able to take care of their own bodily needs and continuation care unit for those chronically ill.

This type of separation resulted in a number of benefits, Dr. Lockward said. For example, "the alert recuperating patient no longer had his rest disturbed by an acutely ill roommate."

Special Care
Through the special care unit, he said, "it was possible to admit all emergency patients without delay, bypassing the admitting office, so that all valid emergencies received immediate care."

The self-service unit became "a whole new therapeutic tool which allowed the physician to study the patient in an environment more like that of average daily living," he said.

As patients improve, or their needs change, they are moved from unit to unit. The physical progress becomes a symbol of their medical progress, he said, and helps their psychological adjustment.

No Cost Increase
Dr. Lockward said these improvements in patient care had been achieved "at no greater cost to the patient."

The total patient cost per day is 20 per cent less than the average for 17 other hospitals of comparable size, he said.

"The patient who goes to the self-service unit saves a large portion of the fee involved in paying private duty nurses. The special service unit allows us to return a surplus of $1 to $4 per day to Blue Cross on their average allowance in Connecticut of $12 and $15 per day for day-rate services."

"The average patient stay for the state was 7.6 days while at Manchester Memorial Hospital it was 6.4 days for 1957-1958."

Dr. Lockward said the original program was instituted at minimal cost and with little change in the physical plant.

The total operation of the program continues to be developed and directed by the hospital without the benefit of outside funds, he said.

ANYBODY CAN WRITE A WANT AD

And almost everyone does, at one time or another because Want-Ads work!

In a classified ad say as much as is necessary to completely describe what you are offering of goods or services. Be brief, concise, complete. Tell all you would like to know if you were the prospect.

Facts are what count in a classified ad. Superlatives are to be avoided. Readers of classified pages are looking for something. If you have it and your copy adequately describes it, leaves no question in prospect's mind, you will get action . . . a sale if terms are right.

A buyer looking for something in classified pages will read most of the ads to find it. The judicious use of display type, a little white space at top and bottom will help you command attention and add to the pulling power.

A 3 LINE "FAMILY WANT-AD" COSTS
ONLY 56c A DAY
